Senate Committee Sees Need Of Speedy Action On Stopgap Aid Bill

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The Senate foreign relations committee declared today in a formal report that riots in Italy and the crisis in France this week have intensified the need for speedy Senate action on the $597,000,000 European stop-gap aid bill.

The unanimously approved committee report said that "events of the past week" demonstrate again that "there are forces actively at work which are using hunger and cold as a means of creating political disturbances and confusion."

To Begin Debate

Completion of the report cleared the way for the Senate to begin debate on the authorization bill Monday when the Senate appropriations committee opens hearings on the subsequent bill to make stop-gap aid funds actually available.

Meanwhile, Chairman Eaton (R. N. J.) of the House foreign affairs committee, proposed a plan that he said would make part of the relief money available as soon as

Travel At Own Risk' On Wilmington Road Contractor Warns

Road Opened To Traffic This Morning But Men And Machinery Still Working

Although Route 18 on the Wilmington road from Walmo to a point where the Sharon-West Middlesex road intersects was thrown open for public travel this morning after being closed for the past seven months due to reconstruction work, the contractor for the job, New Castle Dunlite company, stated that men were still working there and motorists would have to travel at their own risk.

Roy Snyder of the Dunlite company stated this morning that the "road under construction" signs would be left posted at either approach to the road due to the fact that much equipment is still on the job cleaning up the final work of the contract. Motorists using the highway will travel at their own risk. Mr. Snyder stated. It was requested that to avoid accidents, that reduced speed be used until the construction work is entirely completed.

Detour signs were removed by the department of highways workers this morning from the Highland Heights road which carried the traffic from Route 18 while that road was being constructed.

Churchill Blasts At Labor Party

Wartime Minister Calls On People To Oust British Labor Party, Need New Leaders

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Winston Churchill called on Britons today to strike a blow for freedom by ousting the "timid, half-baked socialism" of the British Labor party.

The wartime prime minister made the attack on the Laborites in a message to by-election Conservative candidate F. Taylor in Gravesend, declaring that "Socialism will spread not only bankrupt, but also starvation far and wide throughout the island."

He added:

"A misguided or malevolent sect of men in many countries is hampering, hobbling and crippling the native energies of mankind."

"Here in Britain you still have constitutional rights. Use them while time still remains. Strike these muddlers by putting your cross of decision on the ballot paper."

There must be a new parliament capable of reviving our national strength."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The Senate War Investigating Committee announced today that it will refer the record of Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers' wartime financial operations to the Justice department and the Internal Revenue Bureau for possible war fraud, tax evasion, and perjury prosecution.

Denounced As Liar

This came after Gen. H. H. Arnold, wartime chief of the Army Air Forces, denounced Meyers as a liar, a "rotten apple in the barrel," and on the evidence, a "disgrace to his uniform and his rank."

Chairman Ferguson (R) Mich., recessed the hearings after Arnold's smashing exorcism of the man who once held the No. 2 job in the air forces wartime procurement setup.

Arnold testified under direct questioning that Meyers sought to enlist him in a scheme to speculate in war bonds. Arnold said he refused because he "didn't think it was right" and because he didn't

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—(INS)—The Senate investigation of war profiteering charges against retired Maj. Gen. Bennett Meyers entered its final session today after a dramatic climax in which a key witness described Meyers as a "snake."

Testimony by a distinguished witness—four-star General H. H. Arnold (retired), wartime Army Air Forces commander—was slated to close the sensational hearings. Lamarre, who was president of the Dayton (Ohio) plant Meyers claimed to have set up just to bring Mrs. Lamarre back from California, told the committee:

No Words To Describe

"I don't believe there are any words in the English language that could describe the depths to which he (Meyers) has sunk."

The day before he had hidden his feelings behind a masklike face as he heard Meyers declare that his relationship with Mrs. Lamarre was with her husband's "knowings" on his return to the stand, edge approval and acquiescence."

But he gave vent to those feelings when he choked out:

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 22.—The Soviet Union expected to wield the veto for the twenty-third and twenty-fourth time in a year today if the question of admitting Italy and the Trans-Jordan to the United Nations comes to a vote in the Security Council.

The extraordinary meeting of the 11-national body was summoned today to meet a provision of the General Assembly's resolution stipulating that the applications of these two nations be reconsidered before the end of the 1947 session.

The assembly resolution also calls for reconsideration by the Security Council of the applications of Austria, Ireland, Portugal and Finland. But the time limit was not added in their case.

A hesitation among some delegations—including the United States—to force the issue to a vote today may rescue the Soviet Union from the necessity of resorting to the veto while the assembly is still sitting.

Franklin Firm Lowest Bidder On Bridge Over Slippery Rock Creek

Announcement was made at Harrisburg today by the State Highway Department that H. T. Osburn and Co., Inc., of Franklin, with their bid of $65,388, became the unofficial low bidders on the construction of a bridge over the Slippery Rock creek in Wayne and Perry townships. The contract included the building of the bridge and .09 of a mile of approaches on rural route 37052.

The bridge involved is to replace one that collapsed about three years ago when a heavy truck attempted to traverse the structure with a load of material beyond the legal load limit.

Conn Welding company of this city also was the unofficial low bidder for the repairing of a bridge over French creek in Cambridge Springs borough, Crawford county. The bid was in the amount of $35,364.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—

Delegates to the Big Four foreign ministers conference which opens in London Tuesday were speculating today on what surprises Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov may pull at this momentous meeting.

It was recalled that Molotov caused a sensation at the opening of the last foreign ministers' council meeting in Moscow in March when he raised the question of the internal situation in China.

The possibility was seen that Molotov might attempt to bring up at this meeting the Marshall plan, especially in respect to its application to Western Germany.

If the Soviets believe there is no hope of getting an agreement with the western powers on Germany and Austria at the conference, some European diplomats foresaw the likelihood of Molotov attempting to use the meeting chiefly as a sounding board for Moscow's campaign against the United States.

May Inject Marshall Plan

In that event, it is considered quite possible that Molotov may

Men Of Ten Christian Churches From Three Counties Assemble At South Side Church

Central Christian church, on the South Side, played host to over 100 men, Friday evening, representing the brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ of the Christian churches of three counties, Beaver, Butler and Lawrence.

The program in charge of George Bauman, president of the brotherhood, was preceded with a period of piano organ music played by Roy Strobel at the organ and Rev. Howard Redmond at the piano. Dr. G. S. Bennett offered the invocation, with Rev. James Rainey giving the welcome from the host church.

Directing the song service was Dave Lewis, song leader of the church. Mr. Lewis favored with two vocal selections, "The Blind Plowman" and "Reaping". Two piano selections by Rev. Redmond, "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "Praise Him, Praise Him" pleased the men. Mr. Strobel was also heard in organ music.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. Burton Doyle, pastor of the McKees Rocks Christian church, gave a very enlightening address on "The Cup of the Comforter". In his talk, he dealt with the subject of personal evangelism in which he pointed out the necessity of such work if the church is to survive. He told of such concerted efforts which have been the means of building up the congregations of the churches.

Following the address of the evening, the group adjourned to the church dining room, where delicious refreshments were served by the ladies of the church. At the conclusion of a song fest, Rev. Henry Koch of Edensburg pronounced the benediction.

attempt to inject the Marshall plan into the discussions.

Any attempt on his part to try to delay application of the Marshall plan to Western Germany pending a final settlement of the political and economic future of the German nation is bound to be blocked immediately not only by the United States, but by Britain and France as well.

Realization of this fact would not, in the opinion of western diplomats, deter Molotov from raising the issue if he wanted to drag a political red herring across the conference trail.

It is recognized that Molotov could bring up the question of the Marshall plan at this conference on the grounds that it involved Germany.

Can Raise Any Issue

In fact, the view prevails in diplomatic circles that almost any issue can be raised at a meeting of the Big Four Ministers' Council under the Potsdam agreement.

While the council was created primarily for the purpose of concluding the peace settlements with ex-enemy countries, it was also provided that "other matters may from time to time be referred to the council by agreement between the member governments."

Any one of the attending ministers can propose that such "other matters" be considered subject to the unanimous approval of all the other ministers present.

Even if Molotov does refrain from attempting to raise extraneous issues in the conference, the possibility is foreseen that there may be informal discussions between the ministers outside the council meetings on subjects which have nothing to do with Germany and Austria.

For example, Molotov may wish to discuss with American Secretary of State Marshall the question of a peace conference in regard to Japan or the problem of Korea.

JAMES J. DAVIS TAKEN BY DEATH

Senator from Pennsylvania to fill a vacancy for the term expiring in 1933 and was twice reelected, completing his Senate service in 1945.

"Puddler Jim" earned his nickname when he went to work as a steel puddler's assistant at Sharon, Pa., at the age of 11. At 16, he was a full-fledged puddler in Pittsburgh.

Davis was born in Tredegar, South Wales, on Oct. 27, 1872, the son of David James and Esther Ford Davis. He came to the U. S. with his parents in 1881.

He entered politics in Elwood, Ind., a city later to become famous through the late Wendell Willkie's association with it.

Davis went to Elwood in 1893 to work in a steel mill. He was elected city clerk in 1898 and later served a four year term as Madison county recorder.

Leader of Moose

Early in life, Davis became affiliated with the Loyal Order of Moose and at the age of 33 was elected director general of the fraternal organization, which under his leadership increased its membership to over 600,000.

As a young working man, he became intensely interested in the union labor movement, joined the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of America, and carried a card until his death.

His fraternal connections and his record as a zealous fighter for the rights of labor led to his appointment as a member of President Harding's cabinet.

Davis was a veteran of the Spanish-American war and had long been active in the affairs of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Founder of Mooseheart

He was the founder of the famed Mooseheart (Ill.) home and school and was chairman of the Mooseheart board of governors and of the board of governors of the Moose home for the aged at Moosehaven, Fla.

Davis was married to Miss Jean Rodenbaugh on Nov. 26, 1914. They had five children—James, Jane, Jean, Jean and Jewell.

Following his retirement from public life, he maintained homes in Washington and in Pittsburgh.

Republican members of Congress frequently consulted the aging but still vigorous "Puddler Jim" on legislative matters, particularly those having to do with labor.

He was credited with having aided in preparation of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Central Christian church, on the South Side, played host to over 100 men, Friday evening, representing the brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ of the Christian churches of three counties, Beaver, Butler and Lawrence.

The program in charge of George Baum, president of the brotherhood, was preceded with a period of piano organ music played by Roy Strobel at the organ and Rev. Howard Redmond at the piano. Dr. G. S. Bennett offered the invocation with Rev. James Rainey giving the welcome from the host church.

Directing the song service was Dave Lewis, song leader of the church. Mr. Lewis favored with two vocal selections, "The Blind Plowman" and "Reaping". Two piano selections by Rev. Redmond, "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "Praise Him, Praise Him" pleased the men. Mr. Strobel was also heard in organ music.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. Burton Doyle, pastor of the McKees Rocks Christian church, gave a very enlightening address on "The Cup of the Comforter". In his talk, he dealt with the subject of personal evangelism in which he pointed out the necessity of such work if the church is to survive. He told of such concerted efforts which have been the means of building up the congregations of the churches.

Following the address of the evening, the group adjourned to the church dining room, where delicious refreshments were served by the ladies of the church. At the conclusion of a song fest, Rev. Henry Koch of Edensburg pronounced the benediction.

attempt to inject the Marshall plan into the discussions.

Any attempt on his part to try to delay application of the Marshall plan to Western Germany pending a final settlement of the political and economic future of the German nation is bound to be blocked immediately not only by the United States, but by Britain and France as well.

Realization of this fact would not, in the opinion of western diplomats, deter Molotov from raising the issue if he wanted to drag a political red herring across the conference trail.

It is recognized that Molotov could bring up the question of the Marshall plan at this conference on the grounds that it involved Germany.

Can Raise Any Issue

In fact, the view prevails in diplomatic circles that almost any issue can be raised at a meeting of the Big Four Ministers' Council under the Potsdam agreement.

While the council was created primarily for the purpose of considering the peace settlements with ex-enemy countries, it was also provided that "other matters may from time to time be referred to the council by agreement between the member governments."

Even if Molotov does refrain from attempting to raise extraneous issues in the conference, the possibility is foreseen that there may be informal discussions between the ministers outside the council meetings on subjects which have nothing to do with Germany and Austria.

For example, Molotov may wish to discuss with American Secretary of State Marshall the question of a peace conference in regard to Japan or the problem of Korea.

heard described and found the description was short of adequate. Huge castings in the various stages of completion, immense molding pits, equipment built to machine the huge castings, all of them were in operation and all were interesting.

The Open House was scheduled to finish at four o'clock. Howard B. Cummings, general superintendent and his staff were busy from ten to four, guiding guests through and describing the operation.

Many of the officials of the company were present, the engineering department from Pittsburgh came out in buses and employees of other plants were here.

JAMES J. DAVIS TAKEN BY DEATH

Senator from Pennsylvania to fill a vacancy for the term expiring in 1948 and was twice reelected, completing his Senate service in 1945.

"Puddler Jim" earned his nickname when he went to work as a steel puddler's assistant at Sharon, Pa., at the age of 11. At 16, he was a full-fledged puddler in Pittsburgh.

Davis was born in Tredegar, South Wales, on Oct. 27, 1873, the son of David James and Esther Ford Davis. He came to the U. S. with his parents in 1881.

He entered politics in Elwood, Ind., a city later to become famous through the late Wendell Willkie's association with it.

Davis went to Elwood in 1893 to work in a steel mill. He was elected city clerk in 1898 and later served a four year term as Madison county auditor.

Even if Molotov does refrain from attempting to raise extraneous issues in the conference, the possibility is foreseen that there may be informal discussions between the ministers outside the council meetings on subjects which have nothing to do with Germany and Austria.

For example, Molotov may wish to discuss with American Secretary of State Marshall the question of a peace conference in regard to Japan or the problem of Korea.

Leader of Moose

Early in life, Davis became affiliated with the Loyal Order of Moose and at the age of 33 was elected director general of the fraternal organization, which under his leadership increased its membership to over 600,000.

As a young working man, he became intensely interested in the union labor movement, joined the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of America, and carried a card until his death.

His fraternal connections and his record as a zealous fighter for the rights of labor led to his appointment as a member of President Harding's cabinet.

Davis was a veteran of the Spanish-American war and had been active in the affairs of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Founder of Mooseheart

He was the founder of the famed Mooseheart (Ill.) home and school and was chairman of the Mooseheart board of governors and of the board of governors of the Moose home for the aged at Moosehaven, Fla.

Davis was married to Miss Jean Rodenbaugh on Nov. 26, 1914. They had five children—James, Jane, Jean, Joan and Jewell.

Following his retirement from public life, he maintained homes in Washington and in Pittsburgh.

Republican members of Congress frequently consulted the aging but still vigorous "Puddler Jim" on legislative matters, particularly those having to do with labor.

He was credited with having aided in preparation of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Funeral Services

Services will be conducted Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Holy Trinity church, Rayen avenue, Youngstown. Interment will take place in Calvary cemetery, Youngstown.

The body will be removed Sunday morning from the Cunningham funeral home to the late residence, where friends will be received at any time.

Henry L. Harper

Henry Lloyd Harper, aged 48 years, died Friday at his residence, Division Lane, Vanport, Beaver county, following a six months illness. Born in Big Beaver township, Lawrence county, he was a son of the late Charles and Jennie Harper.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Lydia Harper, and seven children: Elmer, DeWitt, Clara, Thomas, Alice, Jack and Shirley May Harper, all at home.

He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Lulu Jolley, New Brighton; four brothers, Elmer Harper, New Brighton, Charles, Thomas and Edward Harper, all of Big Beaver township, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the late residence. Interment will take place in Beaver cemetery.

The body has been removed from the Marshall funeral home to the residence, where friends will be received at any time.

Mrs. Gatrall Funeral Time

Funeral services for Mrs. Ethel Langdon Somerfield Gatrall, aged 66 years, wife of Edward C. Gatrall, of 408 Hillcrest avenue, will be conducted from the John R. Hodge funeral home, Wallace avenue, Monday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. James Gaiser of the First Methodist church will officiate, and burial will follow in Castle View Burial Park.

Mrs. Gatrall was born in Willington, Somersethshire county, England, February 6, 1881, daughter of the Hon. James L. and Rose Langdon Somerfield, Esq. On June 8, 1909 she married Edward C. Gatrall, and in 1911 they came to this country, and for 20 years have been residents in this city.

Mrs. Gatrall was also the granddaughter of the late Sir Walter Travallyn.

In addition to her husband, she leaves a son, David Langdon Gatrall, this city; a sister, K. Langdon of Auckland, New Zealand; and a granddaughter.

The family will receive friends at the Hodge funeral home, today, 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m., and Sunday, 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Swisher Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Hamill Swisher, 206 Edgewood avenue, were held in the Leyde mortuary, Friday at 2 p.m. Dr. S. E. Irvine, in charge, assisted by Rev. O. J. Warnath.

Pallbearers were: James Noragon, Willis Shumway, Chester Harris, William Stalmaker, Samuel Schuller and Joseph Kline.

Burial was in Petersburg, O.

Mrs. Leivo Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Mattheu Leivo, were held Friday at 2 p.m., in the Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. Edward Leppala was in charge, with Rev. E. W.

Lehto and Rev. Sakari Holkola assisting.

Two solos were sung by Mrs. Leppala.

Pallbearers were: Justus Suosio, John Savring, Armas Haltonen, Emil Laurell, Henry Karki and Henry Martala.

Burial was in Oak Park cemetery.

Risch Funeral

Funeral services for George Finley Risch, of Annadale, Mercer county, were conducted Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the Six Points Church of God, near Eau Claire, with Rev. C. R. Shilla and Rev. J. Sanner officiating.

Three favorite hymns of the deceased were sung by Thelma Trump and Virginia Tustin.

Frank Sedgwick, Leon Phillips, John Parks, James Blauer, J. C. McKee and Henry Burgess served as pallbearers.

Interment took place in East Brady cemetery.

Mrs. Hamilton Funeral

Solemn requiem mass for Mrs. Anna Hamilton was offered this morning in St. Mary's church at 10 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Francis McCarty was celebrating. Rev. Francis King, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Francis Gallagher, sub-deacon.

Services were largely attended, and pallbearers were: James Travers, Jack Travers, Vincent Travers, Elijah Byler, Jack McIntire, and Gomer Eagan.

Fr. McCarty conducted the committal service in St. Mary's cemetery.

SHOWER TENDERED FLORENCE TURNER

One of the loveliest of the pre-nuptial showers that have been given for Miss Florence Turner since the announcement of her engagement to Barton W. Balentine was the shower-bridge given by Mrs. John J. Gallagher, 332 Highland avenue, Friday evening.

Tables of bridge were in play following the presentation to the bride-elect of a shower of beautiful gifts of linen. Card prizes were won by Mrs. N. O. Olson and Mrs. Andrew W. Schmidt.

Featuring the decorations was a miniature bridal party on the buffet in the dining room. The miniature scale model of an altar was banked with chrysanthemums and in the background were white tapers. In the foreground was the bridal party with doll figures of a bride and groom, minister and bridesmaids.

Refreshments were served to 24 guests at tables for four. Centering the bride-elect's table was an arrangement of pink and white mums and flowers on the other tables were in a range of pastel colors. Mrs. Mamie Schmidt acted as the hostess' aide.

Among those present were the mothers and grandmothers of the bride-elect and her fiance. Mrs. Sidney Turner, Mrs. Emil Johnson, Mrs. J. Walker Balentine and Mrs. Sara Richards.

The wedding will take place on the afternoon of November 28 at 4:30 o'clock in Highland U. P. church with a reception and dinner at the New Castle Country club following the ceremony.

On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. Glenn Berry will entertain for the young couple with a buffet supper in their home, 117 Hazelcroft avenue.

WISE-PATTISON ENGAGEMENT TOLD

Mrs. Josephine Agnew Wise, of 305 Rhodes place, announces the engagement of her daughter, Jenkins Mae Wise, and John W. Pattison, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Pattison, of Scotland Lane.

The engagement will terminate in a wedding early in December.

Miss Wise, a graduate of New Castle high school, is employed in the Temple Shop and Mr. Pattison, a graduate of Union high school, is affiliated with the Wonder Bread Company in Andover, Ohio.

The wedding took place in St. Vitus church here on November 6 with Rev. Albert Intesse officiating at 10 a. m. in the presence of the immediate families. Miss Felicia D'Thomas attended her sister as maid of honor and Donald Conti was best man.

Mrs. Fyffe, a graduate of New Castle high school, was formerly associated with the Smith Dry Cleaning company in the office and Mr. Fyffe, a graduate of Mercer high school, and a veteran of U. S. Navy service, is employed at the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company plant in Sharon. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mademoiselle Club Meets

Five hundred was in play Thursday evening when Mademoiselle club members met in the home of Mrs. Katherine DeCarbo, East Linton street. Prizes went to Mrs. Ann DeCaprio and Mrs. Vicki Ascione, with Mrs. Connie Bliese and Miss Ann Calella as special guests.

A birthday remembrance was presented to Mrs. Edna Pezzone, and a birthday cake was a feature of the lunch. Names were drawn for a Christmas exchange to take place in conjunction with a Christmas dinner party in a suburban tea room on December 18.

Next meeting will be December 4, in the home of Mrs. V. Ascione, 836 Morton street.

Farewell Shower

Miss Charlotte Leasure, who left Friday evening to take up residence in Los Angeles, Calif., was tendered a farewell shower when a group of ten guests were entertained Thursday evening in the home of Miss Lois Mershimer, 314 Boyles avenue.

She was presented with a lovely gift from the group.

Cards were the diversion during the evening and later a lunch was served with Miss Edna J. Mershimer and Miss Claire Kelly as aides.

Miss Leasure, who has made her home here at 1807 Wilmington avenue, has accepted a transfer to the Los Angeles offices of the Bell Telephone company.

O. A. O. Meets For Bridge

O. A. O. club met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Thomas Baskeyfield, Huron avenue, when two tables of bridge were in play with prizes going to Mrs. J. J. Vessella, Mrs. J. J. Kenehan and Mrs. Robert Gibson.

Mrs. Cecil Potter and Mrs. Frank Hamilton were special guests. A lunch was served at the close of the evening.

On December 4, the club will meet with Mrs. J. J. Vessella, 1809 Highland avenue.

TAX REDUCTION, DEBT REDUCTION POSSIBLE

There are two principal schools of thought on the subject of Federal tax and fiscal policy. One school, which seems to have a majority in Congress though it is opposed by the Executive branch, holds that a fairly substantial reduction in the burden of the income tax on individuals and industry is necessary if we are to maintain production and consumption at high levels. The other school feels that debt reduction is the big thing, and must come first.

It would seem that it is possible to find a workable middle ground between these attitudes—if Congress will take really decisive steps to reduce the budget, and the President will sign the resulting bill. Orderly reduction of the present enormous public debt is obviously vital to national solvency—as well as to the fight against inflation. At the same time, reasonable tax reduction would in itself create new sources of tax revenue. It would be a spur to business—and a much-needed spur, now that it is evident that the postwar buying spree is coming to an end—and it would encourage investment. It would be particularly important in that it would bring out of dormancy the “risk capital” which goes into new and untried enterprises. A man will not take long risks when, if he loses, he must bear the loss—while, if he wins, the government takes the lion’s share of the profits.

Real government economy can make both tax reduction and debt reduction possible.

THAT THANKSGIVING TURKEY

There’ll be enough turkey for all at the American family table again this Thanksgiving, Paul H. Margolf, professor of poultry husbandry at the Pennsylvania State College assures.

However, there are 16 per cent less turkeys in the country than last year, and in Pennsylvania, the crop is about 8 per cent under that of 1946.

Turkeys started to move to market earlier this year than in past years, it is noted. More turkeys were marketed last month than during any October in the past 12 years and there is every indication that market figures for November also will be unusually high.

Pointing out that a Tom turkey may eat more than 40 cents worth of feed in a week, Margolf said that growers were anxious to market the birds as soon as they had attained a good market finish.

In Pennsylvania, which grows more turkeys than any other state east of the Mississippi river, approximately 1,317,000 turkeys were raised this year. This is a considerably smaller figure than that of two years ago when a record crop of 1,460,000 was raised.

Pennsylvania growers are turning more and more to the white-feathered “turkey. Feathers from the white birds are in demand for use in the clothing industry.

The 14-pound turkey continues to be a favorite with the housewife.

TAXING INITIATIVE TO DEATH

Henry Ford entered the automobile business with $200 earned by selling the first car he made, with his own hands. His company grew to a giant out of its earnings.

Ford was a small business man. What he lacked in capital he made up in brains, ingenuity and competence. He put what his business earned, back into it. For a number of years he paid small taxes, both individually and as a company.

He was able to use accumulated capital to institute mass production methods and to sell more cars at lower prices. And for many years he paid the highest wages for comparable work in the world. He was able to accumulate more than a billion dollars of productive property.

Today, the Industrial News points out that before a dollar can be accumulated, the senior partner of all enterprises—the government—must get its share. About one-third of every dollar earned in this country goes into taxes. Private accumulations are small because of taxes.

No man, starting in 1947, can reproduce the tremendous success of Henry Ford. The power to accumulate is nullified by the tax collector. Today, taxes are one of the main obstacles hindering the small business man.

Chairman Knutson of the House Ways and Means Committee, in a plea for lower tax rates, said recently:

“McCormick, Ford, and hundreds of others would have remained mere mechanics had the present tax rates been in effect when they started out to make a place for themselves. High taxes have closed the door of opportunity to the youth of America.”

Santa Claus plays no favorites in New York City, where a woman with a mink coat and $60,000 was found on relief rolls.

If dogs can be made to talk, as now alleged, this is ominous news. Neighbors would find their problem of getting the news simplified.

Japan is all ready to take on the American form of government, as 190,000 unnecessary persons have been found on government payrolls.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

The astonishing possibility that 75-year-old Leon Blum might emerge again as the leader of a French nation wracked by strikes and financial difficulties presented itself today.

It is unquestionably true that France is floundering in a grave industrial and economic situation to which no quick and easy solution is at hand.

But it is a fact also that Blum was believed to have withdrawn himself entirely from the political scene many months ago and there is intense speculation as to what success he might encounter under present circumstances in forming a new government to succeed that of Paul Ramadier.

Diverted Attention

The royal wedding at Westminster Abbey diverted international attention from the grave difficulty in France.

It afforded a 24-hour reader and listener respite from the near-chaos that prevails in Italy where Communist-led factions still are playing hob with constituted authority.

But the conditions in both these areas have not been rendered any less grave by the colorful ceremonies in Westminster Abbey or the honeymoon of Princess Elizabeth and Philip Mountbatten, Duke of Edinburgh.

Blum Is Experienced

Blum is an old, old hand, in every sense of the word, in reconciling French political differences.

He has known the best that the Republic has to offer to its intellectuals, for his plays and his books and his poems have on many occasions been rewarded by highest acclaim and almost popular applause.

But he has known the seamiest sides of life also, as a prisoner of war taken by the Germans, and a political outcast pursued by the Vichyites under Marshal Henri Philippe Petain.

Blum is, however, as much as a philosopher and classical romanticist as a politician.

Has Uncanny Knack

He does possess an uncanny knack of bringing together widely divergent points of view.

And while his so-called “Popular front” of many years ago has been condemned as initial instigator of the sit-down strike

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

This announcement will be a terrible shock to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

My commutation ticket expires at the end of this week, and I am not going to renew it.

But maybe the shock will be softened somewhat, if the transit commission, or whatever you call it, grants the railroad’s pending request for another increase in fares.

So, good bye, New Haven R. R. and good bye New York.

I am quitting my job.

I am going to devote the rest of my life to “Looking at Life.”

It has taken me more than two years to make up my mind. For thirty years I have worked in newspaper offices, as office boy, reporter, feature writer and executive.

I have enjoyed most of it, and I’ll miss the excitement and turmoil of New York.

But too many of my friends and contemporaries have dropped dead from heart attacks of late.

First there was Joe Connolly, head of the syndicate with which I am connected. He died at fifty. Then the same thing happened to John Medbury, my dearest friend, who died last July.

A few weeks ago Emil Gough, my city editor in San Francisco many years ago, went to sleep and never woke up again.

I don’t know what’s in store for me—but from now on I am going to enjoy life.

I am going to sleep late in the morning and go to bed late at night.

I am going to take trips and walks and go to the theatres without having to worry about the alarm clock in the morning.

I am going to visit a lot of the towns in which this column appears and meet a lot of you people who have written and invited me.

Instead of looking at life out of an office window in New York and through my newspapers, I am going to meet it first hand.

Some people call it “retirement.” I don’t. I wouldn’t think of retiring. Retiring is stagnating and stagnation is living death.

I intend to work as hard as ever—but I am going to work if and when I feel like it.

For years I have wanted to write a book on how to get the most out of life. I am going to do that now and I hope you’ll buy it and enjoy it.

And, above all, I’ll have more time to give to my wife, and I hope that she won’t get tired of having me around so much.

Why am I telling you all this? Because I feel that you are my friends and, if you have enjoyed my column so far, I think you’ll enjoy it more when I have more time to give to it.

So, goodbye New Haven Railroad, goodbye New York.

Life, here I come.

Hints On Etiquette

If you send a gift for a wedding or other present and it is broken in the delivery; if it is mailed and insured, get damages from the post office; if delivered by the store where you bought it, they must make it good. If it is not insured and the store was not at fault, you should replace it.

Our hats off to the United Engineering and Foundry Company for the opportunity of letting the general public inspect their most wonderful plant. Through your open house program you have enabled people who have no idea of what goes on in a large foundry, see for themselves what a very important part you men of the United play in world affairs. We are proud to have such a wonderful organization a part of this community. Thanks again.

Confused Authority Hampers Aid

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Rumors persist that Dwight Griswold will be removed as head of the American Aid Mission to Greece. These rumors must have their origin with those who want to see Griswold removed or with those who hope for failure of the American program. Official sources deny any intention of forcing his resignation.

If Griswold should go, the hope of any real reconstruction program in Greece would also be gone. The little clique of the rich and the powerful in Athens would have won their battle to prevent the slightest moderation of their power and privilege. This privilege, incidentally, is greater than that enjoyed by any American of wealth since it includes the privilege of paying virtually no taxes.

Trying To Get Job Done

Griswold has his deficiencies. He lacks boldness and imagination. But his great virtue is that he is a person who believes in trying to get the job done. As governor of Nebraska he was known as a good administrator.

Moving slowly and surely, Griswold has tried to correct some of the more obvious inequities in the Greek economy. He succeeded, after considerable difficulty, in bringing about a broadening of the base of the government, which had been pathetically weak and incompetent. When I was in Athens two months ago, it was clear that members of the little clique who felt their power was threatened would do everything they could to get Griswold removed.

Unfortunately, they have had an ally in the American ambassador, Lincoln MacVeagh. MacVeagh’s code as a gentleman and a scholar would never permit him to stoop to intriguing with these people, but he has been in Greece so long that he is almost more Greek than the Greeks. He is close to the royal family, and his friends are all among the ruling clique in Athens. He talks about the inevitability of intrigue and corruption in a Near East government and the folly of trying to think of Greek democracy in terms of western democracy. MacVeagh’s slogan is: “Don’t for Heaven’s sake disturb the status quo.”

One of Roosevelt’s Friends

The ambassador was one of President Roosevelt’s friends out of the same Groton-Harvard background. Like the late president, he considered himself a liberal. His rich ultra-conservative family regarded him as a dangerous radical. Now, apparently, MacVeagh is trying to alone for his former liberalism by embracing the traditional past in Greece.

A man with less patience than Griswold would have resented the kind of cold-shouldering that MacVeagh has seemed to try deliberately to show toward the head of the aid mission. An extraordinary

One-Punch--Cafe-Society Row

By PAUL GALLICO

The increasing importance of the One-Punch or Cafe-Society Fight in our national life is emphasized by performances in that field registered by Johnny (Expense Account) Meyer, Col. L. S. (Did-he-resign-or-was-he-heaved) McPhail, Frank (Bow Tie) Sinatra, and other local heroes, has made necessary a reconsideration of the aims and rules and primary theories of the Manly Art of Self-Defense as expounded to our young.

It seems like a shocking waste of time and energy to invest in a quartet of boxing mittens and instruct the offspring in the left jab as the necessary preliminary to the right cross, and the defensive tactics of blocking and ducking when all he needs to become a success with the saloon set is a knowledge of the technique of the right-hand sneak swing and the time and place to let it go, coupled with a primary chart of weights, sizes and ages so that he will never make the mistake of letting one fly at a gent who is stronger, younger, or belliger than himself.

Sure Way To Get Publicity

It is becoming increasingly obvious that it is more important to get your name in the papers than to busy yourself with earning a living and minding your own business, and one sure way of accomplishing this is to win a couple of those one-punch affairs on the floor of some prominent cafe.

For this reason, even mindful of the welfare of my customers, permit me to amend the Marquis of Queensbury Rules and offer Galli’s Guide to Social Success, the Saloon Soaker’s Manual, or How To Avoid The Exhausting Effects and Obvious Perils of Having to Throw That Second Punch—in Three Easy Lessons, Complete with Illustrated Booklet.

Rule 1: Never, if it is possible to avoid it, let the punch go when the intended recipient thereof is looking, since this entails the wholly unnecessary risk of the party ducking and your hitting the headwaiter, a practice frowned upon by the proprietors of most of the swankier traps. It is also common sense that the victim makes a better target if his head is slightly turned presenting his chin broadside and he is occupied with something else.

Be Sure To Take Advantage

Rule 2: Never under any circumstances let the punch go when the opponent is standing up. Always wait until he is comfortably seated, preferably on one of those narrow benches behind a night club table from which it is impossible to arise without becoming entangled in the furniture, the tablecloth and the water pitcher. This is simple mathematics involving the shortest distance between two points. Seated, your victim has much less distance to fall than standing, and should thank you for your courtesy and forethought. If you cannot catch him sitting down, then at least take the sensible precaution to nail him on the dance floor when he has his back to the orchestra. By the time he has managed to unsnarl himself from the tangle of music stands, maracas, tenor saxes and bull fiddles into which you have knocked him, you can be home giving out interviews.

Need Friends Nearby To Aid

Rule 3: Do not ever let the punch go unless you are accompanied by friends who can be relied upon to step between you immediately and hold you back, or even better, who will leap upon the prostrate form of the enemy, pinioning his arms and legs and crying out to him, “Don’t hit him again. He’s all cut and bleeding” thereby causing the victim to believe he has won and permitting himself to be ejected quietly. By the time he reads about it in the morning papers it is too late for him to do anything about it.

Rule 4: This is just pure common sense. Never let the punch go at anyone younger, taller, or stronger than you, since, unless you have had considerable practice with the Speak or Cafe punch, it is conceivable that you might miss, setting up an irritation in the other party that is bound to lead to unpleasant consequences. A columnist, drama critic, or innocent bystander of about 55 years of age, five-foot-two, weight 120 pounds, with a chest measurement of 27 inches makes the ideal opponent for a successful one-puncher. Don’t worry about his gray hair or advanced rheumatism causing unpleasant comment. You can always say you thought he was going to pull a gun on you.

Rule 5: Never throw the punch unless you know where there is a columnist or Broadway reporter handy to whom you can telephone to the fight managers in the old No-Decision days to beat the other fellow to the telegraph office.

Okay, Son. Now you’re ready to go out and make a name for yourself and become an Important Citizen.

Today, the Industrial News points out that before a dollar can be accumulated, the senior partner of all enterprises—the government—must get its share. About one-third of every dollar earned in this country goes into taxes. Private accumulations are small because of taxes.

No man, starting in 1947, can reproduce the tremendous success of Henry Ford. The power to accumulate is nullified by the tax collector. Today, taxes are one of the main obstacles hindering the small business man.

Chairman Knutson, of the House Ways and Means Committee, in a plea for lower tax rates, said recently:

“McCormick, Ford, and hundreds of others would have remained mere mechanics had the present tax rates been in effect when they started out to make a place for themselves. High taxes have closed the door of opportunity to the youth of America.”

Santa Claus plays no favorites in New York City, where a woman with a mink coat and $60,000 was found on relief rolls.

If dogs can be made to talk, as now alleged, this is ominous news. Neighbors would find their problem of getting the news simplified.

Japan is all ready to take on the American form of government, as 190,000 unnecessary persons have been found on government payrolls.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

The astonishing possibility that 75-year-old Leon Blum might emerge again as the leader of a French nation wracked by strikes and financial difficulties presented itself today.

It is unquestionably true that France is floundering in a grave industrial and economic situation to which no quick and easy solution is at hand.

But it is a fact also that Blum was believed to have withdrawn himself entirely from the political scene many months ago and there is intense speculation as to what success he might encounter under present circumstances in forming a new government to succeed that of Paul Ramadier.

Diverted Attention

The royal wedding at Westminster Abbey diverted international attention from the grave difficulty in France.

It afforded a 24-hour reader and listener respite from the near-chaos that prevails in Italy where Communisted factions still are playing hob with constituted authority.

But the conditions in both these areas have not been rendered any less grave by the colorful ceremonies in Westminster Abbey or the honeymoon of Princess Elizabeth and Philip Mountbatten, Duke of Edinburgh.

Blum Is Experienced

Blum is an old, old hand, in every sense of the word, in reconciling French political differences.

He has known the best that the Republic has to offer to its intellectuals, for his plays and his books and his poems have on many occasions been rewarded by highest acclaim and utmost popular applause.

But he has known the seamiest sides of life also, as a prisoner of war taken by the Germans, and political outcast punished by the Vichyites under Marshal Henri Philippe Petain.

Blum is, however, as much as a philosopher and classical romanticist as a political.

Has Uncanny Knack

He does possess an uncanny knack of bringing together widely divergent points of view.

And while his so-called “Popular front” regime of many years ago has been condemned as initial instigator of the sit-down strike

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

This announcement will be a terrible shock to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

My commutation ticket expires at the end of this week, and I am not going to renew it.

But maybe the shock will be softened somewhat, if the transit commission, or whatever you call it, grants the railroad’s pending request for another increase in fares.

So, good bye, New Haven R. R. and good bye, New York.

I am quitting my job.

I am going to devote the rest of my life to “Looking at Life.”

It has taken me more than two years to make up my mind. For thirty years I have worked in newspaper offices, as office boy, reporter, feature writer and executive.

I have enjoyed most of it, and I’ll miss the excitement and turmoil of New York.

But too many of my friends and contemporaries have dropped dead from heart attacks of late.

Throws A Toy

First there was Joe Connolly, head of the syndicate with which I am connected. He died at fifty. Then the same thing happened to John Medbury, my dearest friend, who died last July.

A few weeks ago Emil Gough, my city editor in San Francisco, many years ago, went to sleep and never woke up again.

I don’t know what’s in store for me—but from now on I am going to enjoy life.

I am going to sleep late in the morning and go to bed late at night.

I am going to take trips and walks and go to the theatres without having to worry about the alarm clock in the morning.

I am going to visit a lot of the towns in which this column appears and meet a lot of you people who have written and invited me.

Instead of looking at life out of an office window in New York and through my newspapers, I am going to meet it first hand.

Some people call it “retirement.”

I don’t. I wouldn’t think of retiring. Retiring is stagnating and stagnation is living death.

I intend to work as hard as ever—but I am going to work if and when I feel like it.

For a year I have wanted to write a book on how to get the most out of life. I am going to do that now and I hope you’ll buy it and enjoy it.

And, above all, I’ll have more time to give to my wife, and I hope that she won’t get tired of having me around so much.

Why am I telling you all this? Because I feel that you are my friends and, if you have enjoyed my column so far, I think you’ll enjoy it more when I have more time to give to it.

So, goodbye New Haven Railroad, goodbye New York.

Life, here I come.

Hints On Etiquette

If you send a gift for a wedding or other present and it is broken in the delivery; if it is mailed and insured, get damages from the post office; if delivered by the store where you bought it they must make it good. If it is not insured and the store was not at fault, you should replace it.

idea which never proved beneficial to France or any other nation where practised, his sincerity of aims and ideals rarely has been questioned.

In the present disordered situation of France and the European continent, Blum is not necessarily the savior of the day.

But his re-emergence into active politics is an intriguing and provocative occurrence. It may well prove of great importance for the future.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

TOT WHO BITES AND PINCHES

Many mothers write me of the youngster from fifteen months to three or four years of age who bites, or hits other children with anything he happens to have in his hand or can reach.

This is not a hard problem if the mother will spend time enough always to be in the toddler’s presence when he so offends and gives him instant effective pain. If he never can do such things without getting immediate pain that is really pain, this type of behavior will soon disappear.

Rarely Sees Child

The trouble is that, as a rule, the mother rarely sees the child when he so offends that he gets the pain only occasionally or gets it long after he has committed the offense. Moreover, the pain may not be pain at all but just a tap or spanking on his well-armed buttock. It should be skin to skin, to be effective.

“Dear Dr. Myers: When my child 2½ years old becomes angry at another child he hits that child with whatever happens to be in his hand. I am afraid he is going to injure one of the children seriously one day. Usually he is in the other child’s yard and I don’t find out about it till several hours or several days later. I don’t spank him then, because I don’t believe that long after he would realize what he was punished for. If I do see him I immediately spank him and explain that he shouldn’t do it.”

“Do you think it would be any help if I told the other mothers to bring him straight home each time, so I could spank him?”

“Also when he is playing by himself, if the toy becomes stuck and he can’t release it at once, he will throw it across the room. If he becomes angry at me he slaps me too. Please help me. I am enclosing a stamped envelope.”

In writing this mother I commanded her not punishing that child long after the offense. I don’t think it would be advisable to ask the other mothers to bring him home for you to punish. Better if they would spank him themselves at once. But they hardly would. Instead you should go over to your neighbor’s home always when your child is playing with their children, in order to be right there at the strategic moment; also to be near when he is playing with children elsewhere, till the matter is settled.

Don’t explain any more to him about this nuisance. He knows and you have already done too much talking. I am enclosing my bulletin, “How Teach Tot Meaning of ‘No’” which others may have by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y. Parents should do likewise with the tot who bites.

TRYING TO GET JOB DONE

Griswold has his deficiencies. He lacks boldness and imagination. But his great virtue is that he is a person who believes in trying to get the job done. As governor of Nebraska he was known as a good administrator.

Moving slowly and surely, Griswold has tried to correct some of the more obvious inequities in the Greek economy. He succeeded.

But after considerable difficulty, in bringing about a broadening of the base of the government, which had been pathetically weak and incompetent. When I was in Athens two months ago, it was clear that members of the little clique who felt their power was threatened would do everything they could to get Griswold removed.

Unfortunately they have had an ally of sorts in the American ambassador, Lincoln MacVeagh. MacVeagh’s code as a gentleman and a scholar would never permit him to stoop to intriguing with these people, but he has been in Greece so long that he is almost more Greek than the Greeks. He is close to the royal family, and his friends are all among the ruling clique in Athens. He talks about the inevitability of intrigue and corruption in a Near East government and the folly of trying to think of Greek democracy in terms of western democracy. MacVeagh’s slogan is: “Don’t for Heaven’s sake disturb the status quo.”

ONE OF ROOSEVELT’S FRIENDS

The ambassador was one of President Roosevelt’s friends out of the same Groton-Harvard background. Like the late president, he considered himself a liberal. His rich ultra-conservative family regarded him as a dangerous radical. Now, apparently, MacVeagh is trying to stonewall for his former liberalism by embracing the traditional past in Greece.

A man with less patience than Griswold would have resented the kind of cold-shouldering that MacVeagh has seemed to try deliberately to show toward the head of the aid mission. An extraordinary

L. W. V. HEARS TALK ON TUBERCULOSIS

League of Women Voters at its November meeting in the Y. W. C. A. heard a talk on the work of the Tuberculosis society given by Miss Mary A. Howley, executive secretary of the Lawrence County T. B. society. Her talk on the prevention and detection work done was illustrated by a most interesting film.

Mrs. William Cosel in a talk on the Supplies for Overseas Survivors told of the type of supplies that are being sent overseas in the SOS drive. Certain items of clothing, foodstuffs, layettes, medical supplies, household supplies, comfort items and books are particularly called for and it is these that are sent abroad.

During a short business meeting over which Mrs. Lyle Hughes presided, it was voted that the corresponding secretary be instructed to write our congressman and senators to U. S. Congress asking them to take positive action in the matter of a European aid program and also stabilizing action in the field of our domestic cost-of-living.

There was discussion of the final recommendations of the Child Welfare Survey report and group plans further consideration of the recommendations at the next meeting.

Several guests attended the meeting and a welcome was extended to Mrs. Eli Kaplan as a new member.

VOGAN CLASS ENTERTAINED

Vogan class of Highland U. P. church was entertained in the home of the Misses Emily and Genevieve McIlvenny, 500 Neshannock boulevard, Thursday evening with Miss Elizabeth Milholland as their honor.

On November 23, 1876, the couple were married in the Methodist church of Ridgway by the late Rev. M. Ward after being issued wedding license No. 154 in Elk county, one of the first issued.

In 1907 they moved to Ambridge where they made their home and where Mrs. French kept house until they moved to New Castle. They now make their home here at 716 Wilmington avenue with their granddaughter and grandson and two great-grandsons.

Their sixtieth wedding anniversary a year ago was celebrated with a reception in the Ambridge Methodist church.

EVENING SECTION SEES GLASSWARE

Evening Section of Woman's club at a meeting Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Dale Andrews, Mt. Jackson, was treated to a display of the hostess' antique glassware and Mrs. Andrews talked on the various types and their origins.

An additional feature was an auction of articles made by the members with Miss Sara Patterson and Mrs. J. B. Brinton as auctioneers. Mrs. Arthur Walker was chairman of arrangements for this exchange.

Next meeting will be December 4, the club's Christmas meeting in the home of Miss Barbara Schulz, 1005 Butler avenue.

Tables of 500 were in play with high score prize going to Miss Vivian Woodworth and second high to Miss Jane Roberts. The former and Miss Catherine Kelly were special guests. Mrs. Leslie Gibson and Miss Roberts aided the hostess in serving a lunch.

Net meeting will be in the home of Miss Shirley Turner, Highland Heights.

Youth For Christ To Hear Cleveland Man

Government Investigator Will Be Presented In Program At First Baptist Church

A most interesting program has been arranged for the New Castle Youth for Christ Rally this evening, in the First Baptist church, North and East streets, at 8 o'clock, when Franklyn Olson, of Cleveland, Ohio, former O.S.S. man during the war and now a government investigator, will speak.

Mr. Olson, uses many of his experiences obtained during the war as the basis for his talks. He will be heard in vocal selections during the service. Rev. Howard Sartell will be chairman of the meeting, with the Youth for Christ Ensemble in charge of Miss Mary Aiken directing the group.

Rev. Joe Marone of New York City, will be present on November 29 to speak to the young people.

Mrs. Alvin Wilson To Speak On 'India'

Annual praise and thanksgiving service of the women's organizations of the First Presbyterian church will be conducted Sunday evening, November 23, at 7:45 o'clock in the sanctuary. The service is being sponsored by the missionary cabinet, of which Mrs. William J. Caldwell is president.

Mrs. Alvin Wilson, now in this city on furlough from mission work in India, will be the speaker. Mrs. Wilson will be remembered here as the former Miss Marian Reehes of County Line street. She has spent 13 years in India, working for the past seven years at Kolhapur. Mrs. Wilson has much of interest to tell of that country.

There will be a special music by the church quartet and Mrs. James A. Rush. The thanksgiving, which will be received, will be used to help in the work of Shekango Presbyterian.

REV. S. E. IRVINE, D. D.

When Rev. S. E. Irvine, D. D., of the First United Presbyterian church, delivers his sermon to the congregation Sunday, it will mark his last appearance in the pulpit of the North Hill church.

Rev. Irvine, who will go into retirement at Penney Farms, Florida, soon, has completed 29 years as a minister in the city—the longest period of service of any pastor in the community.

Rev. Irvine was born in Albany, Oregon, October 23, 1874, and started his higher education at Monmouth College in 1899. He was graduated from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary in 1902 and accepted his first call to the Calvert Memorial church in Etina, Pa.

After a period of 10 years he moved to the Second United Presbyterian church in Butler, Pa., organizing the house of worship there. Six years later he was succeeded by Rev. S. C. Gamble, former pastor of the Second U. P. church in New Castle.

Youth For Christ To Hear Cleveland Man

Government Investigator Will Be Presented In Program At First Baptist Church

A most interesting program has been arranged for the New Castle Youth for Christ Rally this evening, in the First Baptist church, North and East streets, at 8 o'clock, when Franklyn Olson, of Cleveland, Ohio, former O.S.S. man during the war and now a government investigator, will speak.

Mr. Olson, uses many of his experiences obtained during the war as the basis for his talks. He will be heard in vocal selections during the service. Rev. Howard Sartell will be chairman of the meeting, with the Youth for Christ Ensemble in charge of Miss Mary Aiken directing the group.

Rev. Joe Marone of New York City, will be present on November 29 to speak to the young people.

Mrs. Alvin Wilson To Speak On 'India'

Annual praise and thanksgiving service of the women's organizations of the First Presbyterian church will be conducted Sunday evening, November 23, at 7:45 o'clock in the sanctuary. The service is being sponsored by the missionary cabinet, of which Mrs. William J. Caldwell is president.

Mrs. Alvin Wilson, now in this city on furlough from mission work in India, will be the speaker. Mrs. Wilson will be remembered here as the former Miss Marian Reeher of County Line street. She has spent 13 years in India, working for the past seven years at Kolhapur. Mrs. Wilson has much of interest to tell of that country.

There will be a special music by the church quartet and Mrs. James A. Rugh. The thanksgiving, which will be received, will be used to help in the work of Shehango presbyterian.

Christian Outlook To Be Discussed

In this day of inflation and rising costs how can we make the most of life? What should be the Christian Outlook on Life? Rev. J. A. Gaiser will speak on the subject "Making The Most" Sunday evening, November 23, at 7:30 o'clock in the First Methodist church.

Each one of us must be concerned with this problem. Jesus offered a very sane and wise answer that would benefit any person.

St. Paul's Lutheran Men Buy Projector

Sunday evening, November 23, at 7:45 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Jefferson and Grant streets, the Women's Missionary society and the Agnes Schade Missionary society will unite in a joint thanksgiving service.

Two missionary pictures, one on India entitled: "Jesusas The Outcast" and another on Japan entitled "We Bear Witness" will be shown.

Rev. O. J. Warnath is the minister of St. Paul's congregation.

Miss K. Kuhlman Will Speak In City

Miss Kathryn Kuhlman, woman evangelist, who has been conducting a series of meetings for the past years in Franklin, will make a personal appearance at The Cathedral on Friday evening, November 28, at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced. The appearance of Miss Kuhlman in the city is being sponsored by a group of local citizens.

The Navy is perfecting a special type of balloon for scientific study of ultra high altitudes. The craft, which will carry instruments but no crew, is expected to attain 18-mile heights.

Safety Defied By Students In Craze Of 'Hitch-Hiking'

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—"Student hitch-hiking" is roundly criticized by the Keystone Automobile club, who says it has become a serious problem, not only in this state, but in many other sections of the country.

Authorities are disturbed over the tendency of students to disregard the safety lessons of the classroom and subject themselves to injury by getting rides on the highway.

Such students were criticized for endangering their lives by standing in traffic lanes wiggling their thumbs, or actually jumping on runningboards or bumpers when cars are halted in traffic.

Edward P. Curran, safety director of the club, pointed out:

"Motorists incur serious responsibility when they accede to the pleas of thumb-jerkers, whether students or professional hitch-hikers. Their good intentions are of no value whatever when they are faced with damage suits arising from injury to their self-invited guests."

Mystery In Stay Of French Leader In Soviet Russia

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The mysteriously prolonged stay in Moscow of French Communist leader Maurice Thorez during France's economic and political crisis puzzled political quarters in Paris today.

Thorez left Paris for Russia about a month ago ostensibly to attend the 30th anniversary celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution.

There are reports that Laurent Casanova, French Communist official who accompanied him to Russia, may succeed Thorez as titular head of the French Communist party.

Chas. Wing Suffers Slight Fracture

Charles Wing, aged 17 years, star tackle on the New Castle high school team, has been lost to the team for the rest of the season as the result of a simple fracture of the shin bone of the right leg, sustained in practice Friday afternoon.

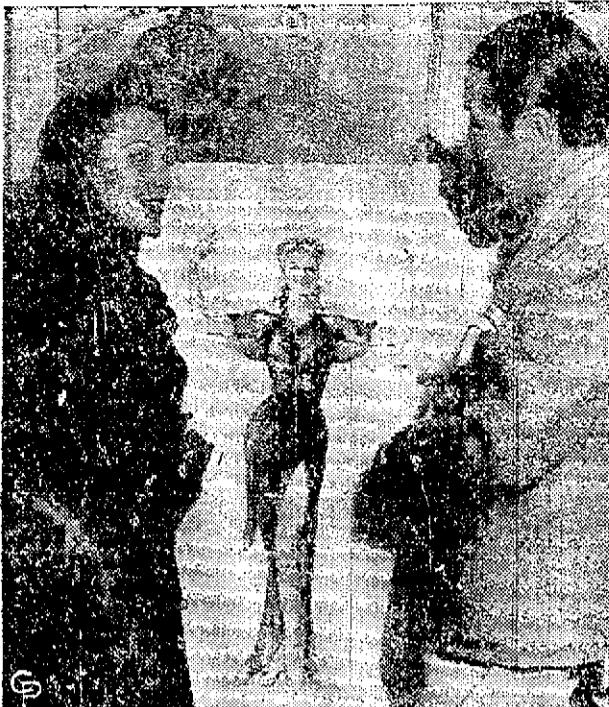

The injured gridiron was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where a tight cast was applied, after which he was able to be taken to his home.

ALUMNI CHOIR WILL MEET ON MONDAY

The New Castle High School Alumni choir will meet Monday evening, November 24 at 9 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Donati Music Company, South Mill street, instead of at the high school, the previous meeting place.

Robert A. Duff, director of vocal music in the New Castle schools is leading the choir.

Dr. Haridas T. Muzumdar, a native of India, who addressed the members of the Executives Club at their dinner meeting in The Castleton, Thursday evening, proved one of the most entertaining speakers heard by the club in some time.

A thorough scholar, Dr. Muzumdar delighted the audience with his description of and history of India, which gave his hearers a new concept of this age-old country. He was introduced by C. H. Youngquist.

It was announced that the next meeting of the club will take place on Thursday evening, December 11, when the speaker will be Charles Eagle Plume, a fullblooded Indian who is reputed to be a splendid entertainer.

E.E.U.B. Church Postpones Service

Missionary societies and the Youth Fellowship of the Emmanuel United Brethren church will hold their annual Thanksgiving service Sunday evening, November 30, instead of November 23, as previously announced.

Devotions of the evening will be in charge of the Youth Fellowship, and the choir will provide special music. Rev. H. H. Martin has secured as the visiting speaker for this occasion.

Three Men Admit
Robbery Series

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Three Pittsburgh men, arrested early Friday when police said, they were attempting to remove a safe containing $4,900 from a market in suburban Turtle Creek, today had admitted "at least" 25 burglaries in the Pittsburgh area.

County Detective Joseph Stack said Walter Henderson, 20, admitted under questioning the trio had broken into that many stores and other business establishments in recent months.

The other two were booked as Elmer 24, and Morgan Hayman, 26. All are of Pittsburgh.

Stack said no estimate of the value of the loot taken in the admitted burglaries could be made until he had completed a check of the stores Henderson admitted they had burglarized.

ALPHA SIGS PUT
DAMPER ON EPS

Freshmen pledges of the Sigma Epsilon fraternity at Westminster are probably still hugging the heaters today following a "tug-o-war" against the pledges of Alpha Sigma Friday, a half mile out of town.

The college lads, 22 on a side, staged their Herculean classic on opposite sides of Neshannock creek, with the 100-foot rope between them. After six minutes of sweat and strain the Sig Eps found themselves the losers and wallowing in waist-deep water. Some 500 persons looked on.

Ah, these college boys!

Pittsburgh Markets
Feel Strike Pinch

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—(INS)—A strike of AFL Warehousemen serving 40 Kroger grocery stores in the Pittsburgh area today threatened closing of a number of the markets.

A spokesman for the union said 104 men were involved. He said the union had asked an hourly wage increase of 17 1/2 cents "plus other condition," and the company had offered a flat 15-cent boost.

Union High Play Well Presented

Players Score In Staging Of Mystery Thriller Friday Evening

Playing to a "packed house", the senior-junior presentation of "The House Without a Key", a Charlie Chan mystery thriller, proved several hours of entertainment filled with suspense and thrills, at Union high school, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Excellent performances were given by all members of the cast, particularly four seniors who took the leading roles: Pauline Curtis as Minerva Wintership; Ted Radabaugh as the one and only Charlie Chan; Sally Majestic, as Carolla Chan; and Robert Kirby, who played John Quincy Wintership.

Setting In Hawaii

The setting was in Hawaii, in the mansion of Dan Wintership, wealthy owner, who was murdered. Charlie Chan was called to the scene, and within the following three acts, filled with drama, and intrigue, he discovered the murderer to be Harry Jennisson, lawyer of the Wintership estate, who schemed to marry the murdered Mr. Wintership's daughter, Barbara, to insure the inheriting of the great estate. Mr. Jennisson's role was splendidly enacted by Bill Pearce.

During intermission, the Union high school band, directed by Betty Robison, offered selections, and Larry Hart, pianist, also gave several solos.

Directed By Mrs. John King
Mrs. John King, faculty member of Union high school, was the play director, and to her is due credit for the evening's success.

Assisting on the various committees were: Stage, Charles James, Glenn Hoover, Fred Garrett, James Goode, Freeman Aller, Anthony Carbone; programs, Mary Kissick, and secretarial department members: advertising, Mrs. Charles Krause, and Jean Bailey; tickets, Elma Robinson, James Krueger, Larry Hart; makeup, Mary Kissick, Angeline Venditto, and Betty Withrow, the latter of Little Theater group, Westminster College.

Ushers were: Robert Cowher, Alberta Green, Odetta Aller, Marian Vanallien, Dolores Motte, Jane Bailey, Gloria Sleight, Frances Dougherty and Mary Bussey.

Will Seek Full Information On Soviet Shipments

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.) announced today that he will introduce a resolution Monday requesting Secretary of Commerce Harriman to furnish "full information" on American shipments to Russia.

Mundt declared that he is "greatly disturbed" by "reports" that President Truman approves the shipment of heavy machinery, farm equipment and freight cars to the Soviet Union.

Heavy Shipments

The congressman is a member of the house foreign affairs committee. He complained that despite shortages in this country, there reportedly have been shipped to Russia between April and October 216 freight cars valued at one million 240 thousand dollars.

Mundt pointed out that a resolution of inquiry is highly privileged under house rules.

He explained that it requires the head of the executive department to which it is addressed either to provide the requested information or show why "it is incompatible with the public interest" to do so.

ARE WE TRULY THANKFUL IN THIS LAND OF PLENTY?

Before another week passes the United States will celebrate Thanksgiving Day. Thankful for what, asks the cynic. And the answer lies about us in abundance.

When we look across either sea we have so much cause for thanksgiving here at home that we feel humble and grateful.

Grateful that we still live in a land where no one goes hungry, where human rights are respected, where liberty is still the guiding light.

Taxes are high—prices are high—that's right, but would you trade with the citizens of any other country under the sun?

This year we can be truly thankful.

ARE WE TRULY THANKFUL IN THIS LAND OF PLENTY?

Before another week passes the United States will celebrate Thanksgiving Day. Thankful for what, asks the cynic. And the answer lies about us in abundance.

When we look across either sea we have so much cause for thanksgiving here at home that we feel humble and grateful.

Grateful that we still live in a land where no one goes hungry, where human rights are respected, where liberty is still the guiding light.

Taxes are high—prices are high—that's right, but would you trade with the citizens of any other country under the sun?

This year we can be truly thankful.

Criminal Court To Open December 1

Indications Point To A Small List Of Cases—Grand Jury Opens Term

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Opening with the grand jury session on Monday, December 1, the December term of criminal court will get underway. The indicated list of cases seems to show a light term.

Only one case of any size is in sight for the term. Louis "Lala" Charles, indicted for burglary, is scheduled to be tried and is expected to return to New Castle.

Charles was arrested in Los Angeles upon a robbery charge but was acquitted by the jury. The commonwealth contends he was part of a gang here that cracked a number of safes. A number of young men were convicted and sentenced for these crimes.

TWO SENTENCES

Sitting alone, Judge John G. Lamoree held sentence court on Friday morning. Two sentences were handed down. Lee R. Rixtor and Joseph Karski, both charged with driving while intoxicated, were fined $100 and costs, 30 days in the county jail, out in three if the fine and costs are paid.

PURCHASES LOTS

For a bid of $1350, H. C. Blocker of Cleveland, O., was sold a block of 24 lots on Sampson street fronting on the new section of highway 422. The lots started at $250 and went to $1350 before being sold. The offer must be confirmed by the court before title can be passed.

Duff Asks For State Citizens To Share Dinner

URGES CITIZENS SEND CONTRIBUTION TO SECRETARY MATTHEWS FOR AIR TO EUROPEANS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Pennsylvanians were urged today to join in the nationwide program to share Thanksgiving dinner with a "silent guest" for the benefit of hungry Europeans.

The T.O.E. Units to be organized in the very near future are as follows: Bomb Disposal Group, Class "A", 1 each; Quartermaster Service Company, Class "B", 1 each; Quartermaster Service Company, Class "C", 1 each; Detachment of Malaria Control Unit, Class "C", 1 each; C I C Detachment, Class "C", 1 each; Ambulance Motor Company, Class "C", 1 each; Port Company, Class "C", 1 each; Heavy Maintenance Tank Company, Class "C", 1 each.

Captain Henry Ginsburg, Medics of 232 Falmont Ave., New Castle, has consented to command the Detachment of Malaria Control Unit which will be located here in New Castle.

Help Starving Europe

Duff asked commonwealth citizens to send Matthews "the money they would spend on a Thanksgiving dinner for a guest."

"These people cannot be with us in person, but we can send them our friendship, and the tangible help that one friend cannot fail to offer a neighbor who needs it," he explained.

Duff said the state's contributions would be combined with those of other states to buy food packages from the non-profit agency CARE for delivery "to needy families in Europe in the name of all who have shared Thanksgiving with friends across the sea."

WOMAN'S CLUB

Members of the Woman's Club and their guests enjoyed a most interesting and pleasant afternoon, Thursday, when Mrs. John Hough of Ellwood City showed moving pictures taken on a trip west. This was one of the most enjoyable programs the ladies have had. December 18 will be the regular Christmas party and entertainment.

WAMPUM NOTES

Mrs. Charles Aiken is confined to her home with illness.

Rev. and Mrs. Edward Schmidt were New Castle visitors this week.

Wampum was well represented at the Scottish Rite Reunion in New Castle Thursday night.

Mrs. Lingle Eversole, sons Robert, Menlo and Lee have returned from Columbus, Ind., where they were called by the serious illness of the former's mother Mrs. Eva Bergley.

Mrs. Joseph Wilson and Miss Helen, spent Thursday in Pittsburgh.

IF YOU HAD TO PAY $78,000

for an automobile accident, how would you pay it? This was the amount awarded in one case involving injuries to several persons. Why not see us about dependable Aetna Automobile Liability Insurance.

Mrs. Joseph Wilson and Miss Helen, spent Thursday in Pittsburgh.

Sheet erosion is that phase of land washing in which layers of soil are removed from large areas by the water running over the land surfaces in sheets rather than in definite streams.

Truman Stresses Freight Car Need

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The Office of Defense Transportation said Friday that President Truman has ordered a study of the possibility of raising the planned production of new freight cars from 10,000 to 15,000 a month by next July.

ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson said that the president considers the shortage of railroad equipment to be one of the nation's most critical problems.

Increase in Steel

At the same time, Johnson disclosed that he had obtained commitments from the Iron and Steel Institute for a 22 percent increase in steel shipments and higher deliveries of short supply items, such as plates and sheets, which have curtailed planned production of the car builders.

The current capacity of car manufacturers is estimated at approximately 17,000 cars monthly, but material shortages had production down to 8,864 in October and 4,398 in the first half of November.

Legislation For Veterans To Be Pushed

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R) Mass., revealed today that she has launched a drive for the enactment of veterans legislation during the special session of congress.

Mrs. Rogers, chairman of the house veterans committee, has begun a series of conferences with influential congressmen in an effort to obtain a vote on four key pieces of legislation, three of which have already been passed by the Senate.

The measures were approved by Mrs. Rogers' committee, but have been bottled up for months by the house rules committee, which has refused to give them clearance to the floor for a vote.

Some Measures

1. Automobiles for amputees. Existing legislation would be broadened to authorize the government to give specially-equipped motor vehicles to veterans who have lost their hands or are blind. At present, only veterans who have lost a leg are covered. Mrs. Rogers estimated the additional cost at nine million dollars over a three-year period.

2. Increased educational subsistence allowances. Monthly benefits would be boosted from $65 to $75 for a veteran without a dependent; from $90 for a veteran with dependents to $105 for a veteran with one dependent and $120 for a veteran with more than one dependent.

About one million, 750 thousand veterans would be affected by the increase which the Veterans Administration estimated would cost 217 million dollars.

3. Higher on-the-job training ceilings. Monthly ceilings for veterans learning a job would be increased from $175 to $250 for single veterans, and the present ceiling of $200 for veterans with dependents would be boosted to $325 for a veteran with one dependent and $350 for a veteran with two or more dependents.

The Veterans Administration estimates the cost at 150 million dollars annually, but other estimates have run as high as one billion dollars.

4. Comparable benefits for veterans with tuberculosis acquired while in service. This measure would give World War Two servicemen the same benefits paid to those of World War One. No action has been taken so far by either the House or Senate.

The measures were approved by Mrs. Rogers' committee, but have been bottled up for months by the house rules committee, which has refused to give them clearance to the floor for a vote.

Seventy-Five Are Shaken Up Today, Train Is Derailed

Boston-Bound Train Jumps Tracks,
No Injuries Reported; Traffic
Tied Up Hour

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Seventy-five persons escaped today with a severe shaking up when two passenger cars on a Boston & Maine railroad train were derailed at Newbury, and jolted along the roadbed for nearly 200 yards.

Railroad officials said no injuries were reported.

The derailed cars remained on the roadbed, and snapped off a telegraph pole before coming to a stop. The accident occurred near Lloyd's Lane crossing in Newbury, Bound For Boston

The train, bound from Portsmouth, N. H., to Boston, was made up of six cars.

Railroad officials said the derailment was caused by accidental locking of the brakes by a safety device.

The passengers were taken by bus to Newburyport station where another specially made-up train took them to Boston.

The line was tied up for an hour.

Chases Robbers By Throwing Of Books

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—It was books versus bullets today in an attempted robbery at the Robert Morris hotel in downtown Philadelphia, and oddly enough, the books won.

Alexander Peoples, 60-year-old night clerk, thumped one of two holdup men on the head with the heavy hotel registry when they pointed a pistol at him and demanded money. Then he literally threw the book at the pair of them.

The would-be robbers managed to fire one harmless shot and fled before police arrived.

STATE CARPENTERS
PRESIDENT DIES

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Edward W. Finney of Wilkes-Barre, 56-year-old president of the State Council of Carpenters and Joiners (AFL), died today at the Homeopathic hospital of complications following an appendectomy.

A native of Pottsville, he had served as president of Local 514 in Wilkes-Barre and business representative of the Wyoming Valley District council.

The $10,000 bill is the largest denomination of United States paper currency.

Overall Economic Program Planned For Western World

Plan That Will Work Envisaged By Responsible Government Officials

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I.N.S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—An overall economic program for the western hemisphere which will function regardless of the success of the Marshall Plan was envisaged today by responsible government officials.

The new plan is scheduled to be taken up at the international conference of American States at Bogota, Colombia, slated for Jan. 17. But it is generally believed that the meeting may be postponed.

However, when the conference is held, the role which Latin-American nations will play in the Marshall Plan is due for discussion.

The Bogota meeting will be the first great full-dress inter-American conference of its nature to be held since 1938 when the western hemisphere nations conferred in Lima, Peru.

Delays in holding other conferences, scheduled for every five years, have been occasioned by the war and the problems of the peace. Meanwhile, pressing problems affecting the 21 American republics have been held among the foreign ministers.

The American republics last attempted to solve their economic problems at a meeting in Panama just after the outbreak of the European war in 1939. Many political problems have been put aside pending a meeting of the American states, where all subjects can be discussed.

At present officials see the probability that questions affecting cultural and education, economic, juridical and hemispheric security matters will come up.

In Russia, "red" means beautiful.

SENATE PROBERS TO REFER RECORD TO U. S. AGENCIES

have the $50,000 Meyers wanted him to invest.

The four-star air general said he had known Meyers for 27 years "and he always had more money than anybody else." Arnold observed: "He lived on a better scale as a captain than I could as a brigadier general."

Direct Violation

Arnold said Meyers' concealment of stock holdings in direct violation of orders warranted a court martial.

He disclosed that Meyers, in reference to the war bond deal, quoted former Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau as saying: "I see no legal reason why you shouldn't go into it, but I hope you won't."

Ferguson promised that no "curtain of secrecy" would be drawn over other possible irregularities in the procurement program.

Ferguson said the "whole record"—including Meyers' "kiss-and-tell" defense impugning the honor of Mrs. Bieriot Lamarre, the woman he called his "girl friend," will be referred to the attorney general and the Internal Revenue Bureau to "take such steps as necessary."

May Face Perjury Charge
He said the United States district Attorney in Washington will be asked to study "what took place in this hearing room" with a view to prosecution of Meyers for perjury.

Eisenhower pointed out that major achievements credited to the Army are "in fact the achievements of the entire nation." He continued:

"The American public, therefore, should find no unnecessary obstacle to its access to the written record."

Typhoid is now kept under control largely through proper sanitation, sewage disposal, water purification, pasteurization of milk, food inspection, and by means of typhoid vaccination.

Soil conservation has been established involving more than 900,000,000 acres in the U. S.

Closes "Meyers" Phase

The chairman emphasized that the recess closes only the "Meyers" phase of the investigation into wartime procurement methods.

Ferguson said closed hearings soon would be resumed to cover other phases of the sweeping investigation.

He said the committee wanted to make certain that "the curtain of secrecy is not drawn down again" over possible war frauds.

The senator added that Sen. Tobey (R) N. H., chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, will take up from a legislative point of view the question of Meyers' speculation in government bonds.

Meyers admitted buying war bonds on margin to speculate on differences between interest payments made by the government and by banks.

Ferguson said in his closing statement that he thought the revelations made by his committee should lead to "the setting up in the military establishment of an alert, vigorous investigative agency to act as an efficient watchdog over public funds."

Overall Economic Program Planned For Western World

Plan That Will Work Envisaged By Responsible Government Officials

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—An overall economic program for the western hemisphere which will function regardless of the success of the Marshall Plan was envisaged today by responsible government officials.

The new plan is scheduled to be taken up at the international conference of American States at Bogota, Colombia, slated for Jan. 17. But it is generally believed that the meeting may be postponed.

However, when the conference is held, the role which Latin-American nations will play in the Marshall Plan is due for discussion.

The Bogota meeting will be the first great full-dress inter-American conference of its nature to be held since 1938 when the western hemisphere nations conferred in Lima, Peru.

Delays in holding other conferences, scheduled for every five years, have been occasioned by the war and the problems of the peace. Meanwhile, pressing problems affecting the 21 American republics have been held among the foreign ministers.

The American republics last attempted to solve their economic problems at a meeting in Panama just after the outbreak of the European war in 1939. Many political problems have been put aside pending a meeting of the American states, where all subjects can be discussed.

At present officials see the probability that questions affecting cultural and education, economic, juridical and hemispheric security matters will come up.

In Russia, "red" means beautiful.

SENATE PROBERS TO REFER RECORD TO U. S. AGENCIES

Historical Matter Hitherto Secret
Released For Public Use By
Army Chief Of Staff

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower formally ordered today the release of tons of historical material describing details of World War II battles and campaigns which until now have remained secret.

The retiring Army chief of staff told commanders to interpret the order "in the most liberal sense" regardless of "whether or not the evidence places the Army in a favorable light."

Eisenhower's order was addressed to officers now in the process of preparing the Army's history in the recent war.

No estimate was made of how much material the order would cover but one official said it would affect data "by the carload".

Eisenhower said:

"The historical record of the Army's operations as well as the manner in which these were accomplished are public property and except where the security of the nation may be jeopardized, the right of the citizens to the full story is unquestioned."

Eisenhower pointed out that major achievements credited to the Army are "in fact the achievements of the entire nation." He continued:

"The American public, therefore, should find no unnecessary obstacle to its access to the written record."

Typhoid is now kept under control largely through proper sanitation, sewage disposal, water purification, pasteurization of milk, food inspection, and by means of typhoid vaccination.

Soil conservation has been established involving more than 900,000,000 acres in the U. S.

Places Blame For Air Crashes

C.A.A. Official Says Inadequate
Airports And Poor Aircraft
Design Among Causes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration said today that inadequate airports and poor aircraft design are the principal causes of plane crashes and near-disasters in airline operations.

A study of current aircraft problems, carried out by the American Institute of Research with CAA funds, pointed out that pilots are under the greatest pressure when they are landing, operating controls and navigating.

But the CAA added that "pilots are handicapped in all three by inadequacies of both ground facilities and aircraft design." The study also declared:

Some of Handicaps
1. The methods used by airlines in selecting applicants for pilot jobs are not successful in predicting subsequent success or failure during training.

2. Methods of judging pilot performance rely more on personal judgement than on objective measurements and do not stress the factors which cause unsafe flying.

From the study's findings, CAA recommended that "better ways" be developed for selecting, training and examining new pilots.

The institute further reported that the greatest number of "critical incidents" involving pilot behavior occur in the landing approach.

In discussing "inadequate ground facilities," the report said that poor airport lighting and the lack of approach aids, such as instrument landing systems, cause the greatest dangers.

ROBED OF $80 AND HIS SHOES

Three Negroes at 10:30 p. m. Friday not only held up and robbed Clyde Hale, of 310 Milton street, of $80, but also his shoes.

They seized him after he left a restaurant, forced him to walk through Norris Alley to Lawrence street, then attacked him.

He was knocked down and sustained a cut upon his head, according to his report to police.

The nation's 1947 honey crop was about two percent below that of last year and 10 per cent behind the all-time mark set in 1945.

In recent years annual flood losses in the United States have exceeded $110,000,000.

Full Blooded Indians Will Engage Cushites

Arena Floor Sunday Will See First Indian Basketball Team Ever To Play Here

City-County Floor League
Gets Under Way With
Preliminary Game
At 3:30 P. M.

From out of the southwest today rides a band of fierce warrior Indians to invade the Arena here Sunday afternoon for the first big basketball attraction offered by Stanley Shaw at the Grove street edifice.

At 4 o'clock the Indians will prance out on the basketball court with bright 'headdress' waving and tomahawks flying, as they prepare to do battle with the famous Canton Cushites, colored pro courtiers.

The doors of the Arena will open at 3:30, the preliminary between two city-county league teams—East Brook Boosters and VFW team will get under way very shortly afterwards.

Something Different

It will be a show entirely different from any ever offered to New Castle audiences. Never has a full blooded Indian team played here before. There will be Indians from the Cheyenne, Cherokee and Creek reservations of Oklahoma. This is one of the most dazzling spectacles of the modern basketball world.

The Indians will put on a real Indian village show, smoking the pipes of peace and going through their war dances.

Array of Stars

Canton is bringing its array of stars to the Arena for a tussle, because the Indians can play basketball as well as make with whoopee. In the Canton lineup will be Wee Willie Smith, Joe Grimes, Art Grant, Eddie Coleman, John Brown, all well over 6 feet, and several other stars of the negro pro basketball world. Smith was at one time with the New York Rens, Grant was with the Globe Trotters. Grimes was with the Jesse Owens Olympics. Coleman is a former Akron University star, and Brown a Los Angeles product. Fans In For Treat

New Castle fans are assured of a real treat in the hardwood pasture, as well as a show. Both teams are past masters at the art of handling a basketball.

The preliminary game Sunday at 3:30 o'clock will see the opening of the city-county floor league with the East Brook Boosters playing the VFW No. 315 team in a fast encounter. This game will count in the loop standing. Both teams have fine following and will help to bring a fine crowd to the Arena. There will be two good games for admission tomorrow.

LOCK HAVEN NIPS

CALIFORNIA, 15-13

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Lock Haven Teachers held a victory over favored California today by the margin of a third period safety—15-13.

Tony Orsini, California halfback, was tackled in the end zone when he attempted to run back a punt to give Lock Haven the two points that made the difference.

Top Pro Teams In Tough Games

The four hottest teams in professional football will come to grips tomorrow in the day's two outstanding games.

In the All American Conference, the Cleveland Browns, Western titlists, are favored by a margin of only 1½ points to defeat the Yankees, leading contenders for the Eastern title. Each team has won five straight games.

The outcome of the Pittsburgh-Bears game, Chicago likely will affect the standings in both divisions of the National Football League.

Steelers Must Win

Pittsburgh must win to stay in front in the Eastern section because the Steelers are only half a game in front of the Philadelphia Eagles, who blanked the Yanks 32-0 in Philadelphia last Sunday and are a cinch to beat them again in Boston tomorrow.

The Bears, half a game behind the Chicago Cardinals, Western leaders, must trim Pittsburgh to stay in the running because the Cards probably will beat the Redskins at Washington.

New York's Giants entertain Green Bay in one of the pro game's oldest fixtures, and Detroit invades Los Angeles to tackle the hapless Rockets, 41 to 16.

FALCONS PLAN STRONG QUINT

Organizational Meeting Slated For Sunday Afternoon In Club Rooms

Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. a basketball meeting will be held at the Falcon hall on Miller street for the purpose of organizing a team and to elect a manager and a coach will be probably be named.

This will be the 27th year that the Falcons will be represented by a team on the hardwoods.

The Falcons will be starting from scratch to rebuild a team that will be on a par with other strong independent teams in this district. For the past several weeks practices are being held under the tutelage of "Flash" Wenda, athletic director of the local nest. The following have been attending: Raymond and "Fritz" Koszela, Stan Grybowski, Joe Mieluszyn, Fonks and the following students at Westminster college, Stan Bartowski, Gillespie, Jack Torry, Reynolds, Connors, Daiglen.

In addition to the above the following are asked to attend this meeting, Henry Koszela, Gabby Kendra, Cwynar, the entire re-service or junior team. President Walter Maslyk and anyone wishing to try out for the team or who is interested in the welfare of the Falcon basketball team.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

HARRY KECK, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, has been discharged from St. Francis hospital where he underwent a major operation. . . . John E. Hennon, Pittsburgh, has been named instructor of Co. G. Boys' Brigade Junior Rifle club, Washington, D. C., which is a newly-chartered group in the National Rifle Association youth program. . . . Willie Hoppe, billiard wizard, plays at Swissvale tonight. . . . Mrs. W. S. Smiley of Woodville, claims that her Boston terriers, own a record-breaking show winner for 1947. Her bitch, Smiley's Little Majorette, has won six consecutive shows without a defeat and finished for the title at the age of one year and eight days, a record no other Boston terrier has attained.

Rude Pravo, Communist newspaper at Prague, Czechoslovakia, reports the championship football team of Russia cancelled the last game of a series with a Czech team and went home because the Czechs were so rough. The Russian champions lost two of the three games and called off the fourth. Rude Pravo denounced the Czech team for "departing from the true football art in favor of a rough game, bad fouls and purposely kicking its opponents with aim of injuring them and thus eliminating them from the game." . . . Shad Bell, one of the Fighting' Bells of Youngstown, was stopped by Nick Barone of Syracuse in Binghamton, N. Y., after which he was taken to a hospital for treatment. . . . McKeesport Daily News has this to say about Jack Biddle's Knockout of Ozzie Neal recently: "In the scheduled six round semi-final, Tiger Jack Biddle, of New Castle, showed where he got his name as he flattened Ozzie Neal, of Donora, at 1:02 of the third stanza. Biddle made a big hit with the fans with his unorthodox style of fighting, standing dead in his tracks, content to take everything Neal had to offer, and wait for just one opening. Near the end of the second round, he found it, and sat Neal neatly in a neutral corner with a solid right cross on the button. Neal got up at the count of seven, and the Tiger charged in for the kill, but the bell clang ending the round. The finish came quickly with a right cross and left hook in rapid succession and Neal took the count flat on his stomach. Biddle weighed 160, two pounds less than his opponent."

Geneva Takes Rough Tilt From Elks, 54-53

Fast, Furious Game Won In Final Seconds

Fists Fly As Tempers Flare In Dying Moments Of Hectic Ball Game; Fran Pitzer Puts On One-Man Show In Scoring 25 Elk Points.

Geneva college and B. P. O. E. 69 engaged in a little back-alley basketball at the George Washington hi gym, last night.

The game (which the Covenants won, 54-53) resembled the feature eight-rounder at The Arena as both squads leaped off their benches to mix punches in the dying moments of the game.

MACK BELIEVES RED SOX PENNANT BOUNDED NEXT YEAR

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Connie Mack expressed the opinion today that the Boston Red Sox are a pretty good bet to take the American league pennant in 1948.

Mack, veteran Athletics' manager, was honored at a pre-birthday party. He will be 85 on December 23. Said Connie:

"With Joe McCarthy as manager and with the men they recently acquired, the Red Sox will be dangerous. McCarthy is a pennant manager."

Rough Contest

The game was of the barrel-house variety most of the evening and it remained for Fran Pitzer to lift it from the dregs of a brawl into something resembling a basketball contest. Husky Fran had another one of his big evenings on the hardwood, stuffing in 12 buckets and adding a foul to amass 25 points, almost half his team's total for the night.

Milich sparked the "Covies", playing a fine game at center, accounting for 18 points.

The Elks took the first canto, 16-14, but Geneva wrested the lead at the half, 27-26, and managed to stay one or two points in front of the Morrison men until the final moments of the third quarter when the locals spurred to forge out from 41-37.

Fourth Quarter Heated

Big Lloyd Cable, ex-Alquippa high ace, who used his football bough to good advantage all evening, evened the score at the start of the fourth period, 41-all with a lay-up.

The game then see-sawed again until this same Cable knotted it again 45-45 with a foul toss. The "Covies" kept ahead until F. Pitzer, on a beautiful follow-up of a miss, dunked one to put the Elks in the lead, 54-53.

Gugina's two charity tosses put the invaders back in the driver's seat once more, and Norkic, sub guard, found the nets to make it 53-52. Koszela's foul and Watters' throw, temporarily tying the score, were the last Elk counters as the game ended in an embroil.

Second Straight Loss

It marked the Elks' second straight loss to a college unit, Westminster clipping the locals last week, 56-40. The "Covie" reserves took the prelim, 34-20, to sweep the evening.

Cable, a light heavyweight, was far from impressive, bearing little of the stamp of a classy collegiate five, and there is evidence of much work to be done before they embark on their rugged schedule which includes West Virginia, Duquesne and Buffalo State among others.

The lineup:

Geneva	G. F. T. Hks.	G. P. T.
Bennett, f	1 1 3 F. Pitzer, f	12 1 25
Cable, f	3 5 11 Koszela, f	1 1 2
Melich, c	8 2 18 Wommer, c	4 6 14
Valle, g	4 3 11 Kelly, g	1 2 4
Firestone, f	1 0 2 Clegg, f	1 0 6 2
Koszela, f	1 0 2 F. Pitzer, f	1 0 2
Norkic, g	0 1 1 Jackson, f	1 1 3
Watters, g	1 0 1 Davis, g	0 1 1
Harr, c	0 0 0	0 0 0

Score by periods:

Geneva	14	27	37	54

100,000 FANS
TO SEE COAST
TITLE BATTLE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22.—One hundred thousand football fans jammed Memorial Coliseum today to see UCLA and the University of Southern California battle it out for the honor of meeting Michigan in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

J. H. Earl McKenzie, ticket manager at New Castle High announced Friday that there are still 75 season basketball tickets left. The sale will close December 4. There are 13 home games, and the tickets sell for $9.00 per ticket. Mail checks or money orders to J. H. Earl McKenzie, with a self-addressed stamped envelope to New Castle High School, Lincoln avenue, city.

LaMotta Shrugs
Off Suspension

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Jake LaMotta, New York middleweight, was complacent today over his indefinite suspension by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Nor was LaMotta irked by the commission's action in withholding his purse and that of Billy Fox.

The game then see-sawed again until this same Cable knotted it again 45-45 with a foul toss. The "Covies" kept ahead until F. Pitzer, on a beautiful follow-up of a miss, dunked one to put the Elks in the lead, 54-53.

"I can afford to wait for my purse. They won't ever hold any benefits or collections for me."

Fox, a light heavyweight, was not suspended. He was declared the winner on a technical knockout in the fourth round of the bout, although LaMotta preserved his record of never having been knocked off his feet.

A betting coup was reported to have been engineered, after Fox suddenly became a prohibitive favorite shortly before the bout.

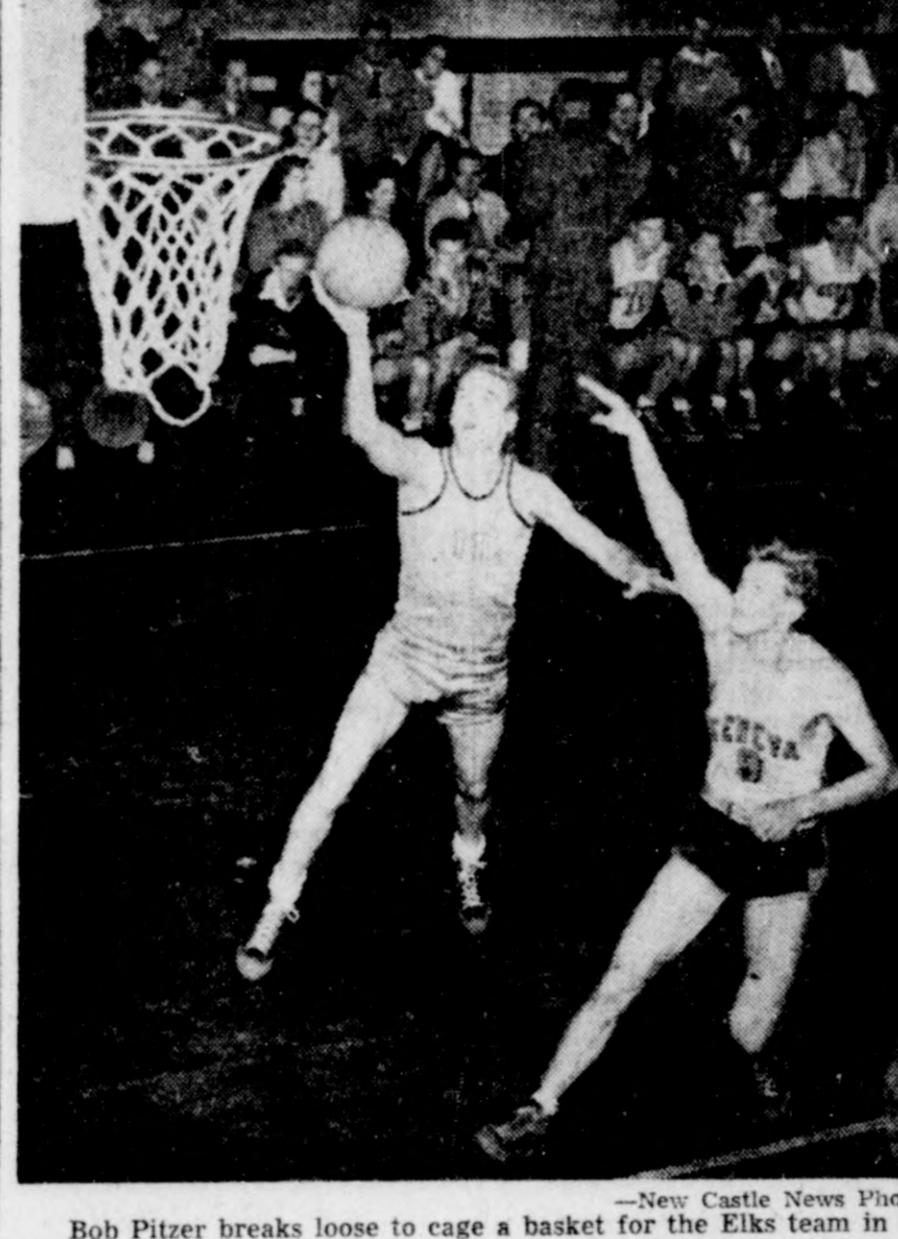

The commission suspended LaMotta for failing to notify physicians and the board of an internal injury, suffered about a month before the fight. This injury was not apparent during examinations by the commission physician.

LaMotta's case now rests until the grand jury brings in a finding in its separate investigation.

Some Basketball Tickets Remain

J. H. Earl McKenzie, ticket manager at New Castle High announced Friday that there are still 75 season basketball tickets left. The sale will close December 4. ## DEACONS ROUT DUQUESNE, 33-0

Strong Wake Forest Eleven Wins
With Ease From Weak,
Battered Dukes

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Wake Forest's demon Deacons were celebrating an easy victory today over Duquesne's mauled and battered Dukes, a 33-0 triumph before 8,000 under the lights at Wake Forest stadium last night.

The Deacons connected for only eight of twenty-six passes, but they completed those when the chips were down. They picked up 159 yards through the air and 155 on the ground.

Duquesne tossed passes all over the gridiron, too, but completed only eight of twenty-five, for 112 yards. They also picked up 55 yards by rushing.

A tough Wake Forest line prevented Duquesne from penetrating the Wake Forest 30-yard line.

Tom Fetzer, brilliant passing back of the Deacons, was kept out of the game in order to give his understudy, Bill Gregus, a freshman, a chance to show what he could do. Gregus ran and passed with devastating efficiency, scoring two touchdowns to spearhead the Wake Forest offense.

Ducks and geese are replacing the die-hard fishermen at Pledmont Lake. A number of flocks have been seen on the main portion.

DEACONS ROUT DUQUESNE, 33-0

Strong Wake Forest Eleven Wins
With Ease From Weak,
Battered Dukes

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Wake Forest's demon Deacons were celebrating an easy victory today over Duquesne's mauled and battered Dukes, a 33-0 triumph before 8,000 under the lights at Wake Forest stadium last night.

The Deacons connected for only eight of twenty-six passes, but they completed those when the chips were down. They picked up 159 yards through the air and 155 on the ground.

Duquesne tossed passes all over the gridiron, too, but completed only eight of twenty-five, for 112 yards. They also picked up 55 yards by rushing.

A tough Wake Forest line prevented Duquesne from penetrating the Wake Forest 30-yard line.

Tom Fetzer, brilliant passing back of the Deacons, was kept out of the game in order to give his understudy, Bill Gregus, a freshman, a chance to show what he could do. Gregus ran and passed with devastating efficiency, scoring two touchdowns to spearhead the Wake Forest offense.

Ducks and geese are replacing the die-hard fishermen at Piedmont Lake. A number of flocks have been seen on the main portion.

We Can All Be Thankful, Says Mr. McGiverly

Horatius Q. McGiverly, of the Spring Hill McGiverly's, is a philosopher of sorts, although he would be the first to deny it. "We can all be thankful this year," said H. Q. McG. "Thankful for plenty to eat, plenty to wear, thankful for health and friends and a nation where a man can still speak his mind without getting a serious case of lead poisoning."

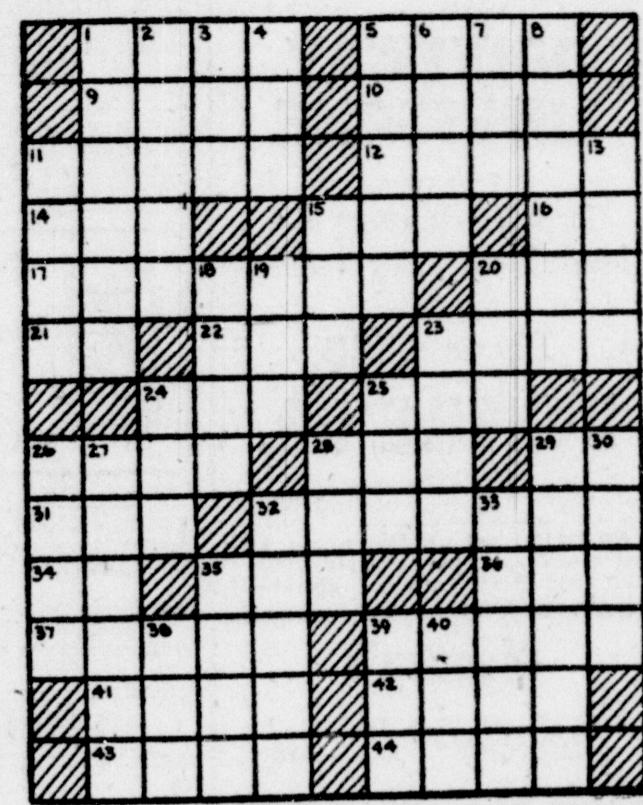

We're thankful, of course. We hope you are. We'll end this paragraph without saying anything about Federal trucks or American Bantam Supercargo or Kingham trailers.

Girl, Nine, Arouses Three Families In Harrisburg Blaze

Girl Spreads Alarm, Families Flee Before Apartment Is Shaken By Blast

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—(INS)—A nine-year-old girl was credited with rousing three Harrisburg families early today in time for them to escape from their burning apartment building before it was shaken by an explosion.

She was Barbara Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barton who occupied the second floor.

The youngster was awakened by smoke and found the refrigerator in her home ablaze. The flames exploded gas leaking from a faulty stove connection.

Several firemen were overcome by heavy smoke and ammonia fumes, but the fire was confined to the second floor and brought under control in 20 minutes.

County Schools To Get Vocational Funds From State

Auditor General G. Harold Wagner has approved payments totaling $17,013.32 to five school districts in Lawrence county. The money represents the annual distribution out of a $2,500,000 appropriation set aside by the 1947 legislature for vocational education purposes.

The districts and the amount each will receive are:

Ellwood City Boro, $544; Hickory Twp., $1,874.40; New Castle City, $9,917.19; New Wilmington Boro, $1,246.80; North Beaver township, $3,432.93.

Cause Of Fire On Big Airliner

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The Civil Aeronautics Board reported today that its investigation has failed thus far to establish the cause for the fire aboard an Air Lines DC-6 which crashed at Bryce Canyon, Utah, killing 52 persons.

CAB released a report on its preliminary inquiry and a public hearing held at Panguitch, Utah, Nov. 5-6, at which 41 witnesses testified on the accident. The board said the hearing will be reopened in the near future.

Band Trip Plans Are All Completed

High School Band Special Train Plans Wait Only For Wednesday Morning

About the only thing needed for the trip of the senior high school band to Bethlehem over Thanksgiving is the arrival of Wednesday morning, November 26. Edward Raney, chairman of the committee arranging the trip said today.

"All plans have been completed. The special train will leave the Baltimore and Ohio freight station on South Mill street at Division street, Wednesday morning at six o'clock. All members of the band are requested to be at the station not later than five thirty, in order to get all baggage loaded and the band members checked.

Load Instruments Tuesday

The musical instruments and some of the band bags will be loaded Tuesday afternoon after the dismissal of school. The players are to bring their instruments to school Tuesday and the school truck will deliver them to the baggage car of the special train later.

"Members of the band are expected to have their instrument cases and band bags properly tagged. Parents are urged to see that their youngsters have an extra pair of socks in their bags, an extra pair of shoes or overshoes, and some woolen clothing to wear under the uniform in case of cold weather.

"Parents can be assured that this trip will be properly supervised. Along with Director Joe Repligole, School Nurse Helen Wilson and Miss Bernice Bartlett of the high school faculty, there will be adult supervisors aboard the train and with the band all during the trip.

"Parents are asked not to send lunches with their youngsters. In addition to ample lunches which will be served at noon on the train, there will be a snack period at ten in the morning and three in the afternoon. Dinner will be served that night in the Bethlehem hotel sometime after arrival at six o'clock.

Comfortable Quarters

"The band will be quartered in the Bethlehem Hotel, the best hotel in the city. All meals will be served in the hotel during the stay in Bethlehem.

"On Friday morning, November 23, the special train will leave Bethlehem for Washington, D. C., arriving shortly before noon. Lunch will be served in the Gateway restaurant in the Union station and a sight seeing trip around Washington will follow. The special will leave Washington about three o'clock with a dinner attached and will arrive in New Castle about eleven that night.

"While the six o'clock leaving time is rather early it is made so purposely in order that the band may get a chance to see some of Bethlehem that evening. Buses of the Shenango Valley Transportation Company leave the North, South, East and West terminal of the city at times convenient to get the students to the B&O station on South Mill street by five thirty.

"Bus transportation to the up-town and Mahoningtown will be arranged when the band returns on Friday night. Through the generosity of New Castle citizens the funds necessary to the complete trip have been provided. Only two contributions are outstanding and these will be in hand before train time it is thought.

"There is still room for a limited number of civilians to ride the special train if they so desire. Those wanting to ride the special without meals can do so for $18.92 round trip. If they desire meals for the entire trip the cost will be $30. Any one desiring to go on the special can make arrangements with City Treasurer B. N. Hanlon in city hall, before Monday noon when the reservations close.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22—(INS) —Cathy Downs rapped the lunch-table with her fingers while she talked.

Actually, she was hitting more than the table. She was striking at Hollywood's system—the same system under which she works as one of its newer and brighter lights.

She said: "Hollywood still makes pictures with more emphasis placed on what effect they will have upon certain studio executives rather than upon the public in Wichita or in Seattle or anywhere else you care to mention."

Relative Newcomer

Cathy is a relative newcomer. She's been in Hollywood less than four years. But she's a dark-eyed young lady who has a habit of keeping her eyes open to see what's going on.

NO WAR IMMINENT SAYS UNIVERSITY ECONOMIC INSTRUCTOR

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22—(INS) —Joseph P. Sollars, West Virginia University instructor in economics and social science, said that war between Russia and the western powers is not imminent.

Sollars, who was with a U. S. military mission in Russia from 1943 through 1945, said that as a whole the Russian people are friendly to the United States. It is impossible for Russia to wage war because of the vast losses suffered during the recent war, both in property and personnel.

Sollars believes that all Russian industry could be placed in three or four cities the size of Pittsburgh.

SYNTHETIC DETERGENTS BETTER IN HARD WATER

All cleansing agents are detergents. Many homemakers mistakenly believe that detergents and soaps are different, but they are not. Detergents are often wrongly classified as soap substitutes. Soap is one form of detergent; a synthetic detergent in the form of crystals, powder, liquid or paste is another.

It has been discovered lately that the synthetic detergents do a more effective job of cleansing than soap does, especially in hard water. Like soap, synthetic detergents are made from oils, animal and vegetable, but by a chemical process rather than the caustic or lime treatment used in soap manufacturing.

Synthetic detergents are now available for specific uses, as the labels on the packages will tell you. This type of cleansing agent is especially desirable for washing dyed textiles, since it does not form so much lather as soap does and heavy lather may spot or streak the dyed fabric. One kind is good for washing dishes, glassware, and windows, leaving them bright and unstreaked. Another is recommended for washing wool blankets. Neither hard water nor low temperature hampers the action of synthetic detergents.

Select a detergent that will best do the job. For very dirty floors and soiled painted woodwork, the addition of a good alkali helps. For cleaning stains on tile or porcelain, the addition of acid aids. Careful reading of the labels will give the information necessary for getting the best results from these new detergents.

Although in some states it is the law that bicyclists should ride on the left-hand side of the streets, it is generally recommended that riders, for their own safety and that of others, follow the accepted rule of traveling on the right side, the same as automobiles and trucks.

Three Killed In Mississippi Crash

PASCAGOULA, Miss., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Three men were killed Friday in a truck-bus collision three miles from the Alabama line near Pascagoala.

At least five persons were injured.

Inspector C. T. Barrett of the Alabama highway patrol said the victims were occupants of the truck. They were burned to death when their vehicle collided with a greyhound bus.

The truck was an army type vehicle and it was believed that the victims were military personnel.

Rescue workers had to use blow torches to extricate the victims.

Band Trip Plans Are All Completed

High School Band Special Train Plans Wait Only For Wednesday Morning

About the only thing needed for the trip of the senior high school band to Bethlehem over Thanksgiving is the arrival of Wednesday morning, November 28. Edward Raney, chairman of the committee arranging the trip said today.

"All plans have been completed. The special train will leave the Baltimore and Ohio freight station on South Mill street at Division street, Wednesday morning at six o'clock. All members of the band are requested to be at the station not later than five thirty in order to get all baggage loaded and the band members checked.

Load Instruments Tuesday

The musical instruments and some of the band bags will be loaded Tuesday afternoon after the dismissal of school. The players are to bring their instruments to school Tuesday and the school truck will deliver them to the baggage car of the special train later.

Members of the band are expected to have their instrument cases and hand bags properly tagged. Parents are urged to see that their youngsters have an extra pair of socks in their bags, an extra pair of shoes or overshoes, and some woolen clothing to wear under the uniform in case of cold weather.

Parents can be assured that this trip will be properly supervised. Along with Director Joe Replotte, School Nurse Helen Wilson and Miss Bernice Bartlett of the high school faculty, there will be adult supervisors aboard the train and with the band all during the trip.

Parents are asked not to send lunches with their youngsters. In addition to ample lunches which will be served at noon on the train, there will be a snack period at ten in the morning and three in the afternoon. Dinner will be served that night in the Bethlehem hotel sometime after arrival at six o'clock.

Comfortable Quarters

The band will be quartered in the Bethlehem Hotel, the best hotel in the city. All meals will be served in the hotel during the stay in Bethlehem.

On Friday morning, November 28, the special train will leave Bethlehem for Washington, D. C., arriving shortly before noon. Lunch will be served in the Gateway restaurant in the Union station and a sightseeing trip around Washington will follow. The special will leave Washington about three o'clock with a dinner attached and will arrive in New Castle about eleven that night.

While the six o'clock leaving time is rather early it is made so purposely in order that the band may get a chance to see some of Bethlehem that evening. Buses of the Shenango Valley Transportation Company leave the North, South, East and West terminal of the city at times convenient to get the students to the B&O station on South Mill street by five thirty.

Bus transportation to the up-town and Mahoningtown will be arranged when the band returns on Friday night. Through the generosity of New Castle citizens the funds necessary to the complete trip have been provided. Only two contributions are outstanding and these will be in hand before train time it is thought.

There is still room for a limited number of civilians to ride the special train if they so desire. Those wanting to ride the special without meals can do so for $18.92 round trip. If they desire meals for the entire trip the cost will be $30. Any one desiring to go on the special can make arrangements with City Treasurer B. N. Hanlon in city hall, before Monday noon when the reservations close.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22.—(INS) Rod Cameron starrer, "Panhandle," made by Champion productions for Monogram.

"Hollywood has a pet phrase," she said. "You hear it often in this town. It is 'the public won't like it.' I have to stifle the impulse to laugh every time I hear it. How does Hollywood know the public won't like it?"

Will Get Try-Out

"I refer, of course, to anything really new that someone wants to use in way of telling a story on the screen.

"If something novel is suggested, someone of authority sooner or later will let go with that pet phrase, and the something new will not be given a try-out.

"Please tell me this: How does Hollywood know that 'the public won't like it?' The public is never given the opportunity to decide whether or not it likes it."

"So we go right along making pictures in basically the same old way insolent as story-telling essentials are concerned, closing our eyes to what often is the fundamental for a very telling story: realism.

"That is why on the screen you invariably see the boy and girl walking hand in hand into the sunset just before the picture ends."

The sight of the week in Hollywood was Veronica Lake and Joan Caulfield in "Gay-Nineties" bathing suits in a Paramount-made lake for "The Sainted Sisters."

You wouldn't think that clothes could so deglamorize two such young beauties.

When it's shown on the screen there won't be a soul who will want bathing girl styles to return to "the old look".
